

MU students take part in etiquette dinner, fashion show

October 28, 2009 – The Herald-Dispatch

Mark Webb/The Herald-Dispatch

HUNTINGTON -- More than 60 Marshall University students dressed up and learned a little about fine dining at an etiquette dinner and fashion show at the Memorial Student Center.

Participants enjoyed a four-course meal, but also learned about different kinds of flatware and how to eat a soup and salad. Etiquette consultant Terri Thompson provided the tips.

The event was sponsored by Career Services, the Student Government Association and Delta Sigma Pi. It was designed for juniors and seniors, and all participants had to be registered with Marshall Jobtrax.

For more information on this event and others offered by Career Services, call 304-696-2370.

