Letter to Parents

Fall 2011

Dear Parent:

As you and your son or daughter are preparing for the first year of college, many questions are probably running through your mind. How will she learn to manage her time? How will he know about everything that the campus has to offer? Does she have the tools she needs to be successful?

One effort to relieve some of this initial stress is a program we will be offering called “Monster College Advantage.” This assembly-style presentation focuses on making the most of the first year at college by providing students with insight on:

- How setting SMART goals right away will make a big difference
- The importance of strong academic performance
- A unique and powerful approach to time management
- An inside look at employer interview strategies

This program will undoubtedly provide your new college student with powerful tips and tools that can lead him or her to a future lined with success. The speaker will share key elements for accomplishment – things many college students know by senior year but wish they had understood earlier in the process.

You are personally invited to attend this dynamic presentation that is to be held during WOW! (Week of Welcome) on Friday, August 19th at 9:30am, 10:30am, 12:45pm, and 2:00pm in the Joan C. Edwards Performing Arts Center. There is no fee to attend thanks to the program’s partners such as Army ROTC, Bank of America, Dell, and the American Petroleum Institute and Monster.

If you have any questions, please contact Marshall University Career Services at 304-696-2370. We look forward to seeing you at the “Monster College Advantage” presentation on Fri., Aug. 19th!

Sincerely,

Denise Hogsett
