GENERAL INFORMATION

Marshall University, a state university of West Virginia, is administratively located in Huntington, West Virginia, on the Ohio River near the boundary of Kentucky, Ohio, and West Virginia. The Graduate College offers programs on campus in Huntington, at the South Charleston campus (fifty miles east of Huntington), and at various off-campus locations throughout West Virginia. Some majors are available only in Huntington and some only in South Charleston, while others are available at multiple locations.

The University is accredited by The Higher Learning Commission of the North Central Association, 30 North LaSalle Street, Suite 2400, Chicago, Illinois 60602-2504, telephone 1-800-621-7440. Please refer to the Graduate Catalog for a list of the numerous academic units of the University that have been accredited by specialized accrediting agencies.

Information contained in this application folder is designed to assist applicants in completing the Graduate Application for Admission. Refer to the official Graduate Catalog online at: <http://www.marshall.edu/mugc> for complete program information and University policies.

ADMISSION APPLICATION PROCEDURES

The receipt of a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university is the basic requirement for admission as a graduate student to Marshall University and cannot be waived. Applicants must fulfill all admission requirements as specified in the Graduate Catalog. Students in the last semester of an undergraduate program may be admitted conditionally subject to completion of the bachelor's degree program.

- Complete and return all three pages of the Graduate Application for Admission form to the Graduate Admissions Office.
- When you submit the application, request the registrars at all colleges and universities you have attended to send official transcripts of your academic records directly to the Graduate Admissions Office. The transcript from the institution that awarded your bachelor's degree must contain the name of the degree earned and the date the degree was conferred. Transcripts of all previous graduate work must be submitted. The Graduate Admissions Office cannot accept faxed transcripts and transcripts that are stamped "Issued to Student."
- Take the appropriate admissions examination and have the scores sent to the Graduate Admissions Office by the testing agency. The Graduate Record Examinations (GRE) General Test is required of applicants to some programs. MBA applicants in the U.S. must take the Graduate Management Admissions Test (GMAT) prior to admission to that program. Other programs accept the Miller Analogies Test (MAT) scores. Minimum scores on the admissions examinations may be established by the academic departments. Some departments will not consider applications until test scores are received, including GRE Subject Test scores. Refer to the appropriate department section of the Graduate Catalog for more information.
- Provide all other admissions materials and letters of recommendation that may be required by the major to which you are applying.

ADMISSION CLASSIFICATION OF GRADUATE STUDENTS

- Degree - A student who desires admission as a degree-seeking graduate student must have an overall undergraduate Grade Point Average (GPA) of at least 2.5 on a 4.0 scale. Individual schools and programs may require higher Grade Point Averages. A degree-seeking student must also meet all criteria for full admission to the program of his/her choice.
- Professional Development - Students who do not want to be in degree programs but who wish to enroll in certificate/licensure programs or other programs that require the completion of specified sequence of courses should apply as professional development. Generally, requirements for admission as professional development are the same as for admission to degree programs. However, requirements for admission to these programs can vary. See the appropriate department section of the Graduate Catalog.
- Provisional - A student may be admitted as provisional by a degree program after submission of all required application materials when he or she possesses a baccalaureate degree and shows academic promise but does not meet the criteria for full admission. A provisional student must be reclassified as fully admitted no later than the completion of the 12th graduate credit hour. This is accomplished by maintaining at least a 3.0 GPA in courses identified by the program faculty and approved by the appropriate dean.
- Non-Degree - Persons who desire graduate level university instruction without becoming graduate degree candidates may be admitted as non-degree students, provided they present transcripts or diplomas denoting graduation with a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited college or university. Before enrolling in a class, non-degree graduate students must obtain permission from the instructor. Students wishing to take courses offered by the Lewis College of Business must secure approval of the MBA program advisor. Non-degree students who do not hold a master's degree or higher may accumulate 15 semester hours. Individuals with graduate degrees may take an unrestricted number of graduate courses for which they have the prerequisites and departmental permission.
- Conditional Enrollment - In some programs, applicants who are not fully admitted may register for courses with conditional enrollment status in the semester for which they have applied for entry based upon submission of (1) a properly completed Graduate Application for Admission form, (2) an official undergraduate transcript that certifies the receipt of a bachelor's degree from a regionally accredited institution with an overall undergraduate GPA of 2.5 on a 4.0 scale, and (3) the appropriate application fee. Applicants who are permitted to enroll for one semester as conditional students are not eligible to register for subsequent terms until they complete all admission requirements and are fully admitted to the requested program. Many programs do not accept conditional enrollments and require applicants to be fully admitted before enrolling for courses.
