Latin majors are required to complete a senior portfolio which documents their work in all advanced Latin classes (above LAT 204). When they enroll in their final advanced Latin Class (LAT 404, 408, 409, or 410), they also must enroll in LAT 499, the Latin Capstone Experience, the non-credit course in which they will complete this portfolio. The approval of this portfolio by the faculty of the Department of Classics is required for graduation. We also recommend that students who are planning to pursue graduate education in Classical Philology take two years of Greek.
