CLASS ASSIGNMENTS

Due Dates: Assignments are due by midnight of the due date. If you choose to e-mail the assignment, please make sure that you receive a response indicating that the assignment has been received. Please make sure that your name is on the assignment, not just the e-mail.

Late Assignments: The semester will move very fast and it is difficult to stay on track unless you follow the syllabus closely. Assignments not received by the due date will be subject to a reduced grading scale. Assignments will not be accepted more than one class period late, without special permission from the instructor.

Copies of Assignments: It is a good college practice to always keep copies of your work, both before and after grading, in case the assignment is accidentally misplaced by the instructor. Sorry, we make mistakes too!

Attendance: Attendance is required for the course. A student that misses one class actually misses the equivalent of an entire week of classes. Two Unexcused Absences will result in one entire final grade reduction. A student that acquires 3 unexcused absences or that misses the equivalent of three weeks of class will receive a failing grade for the class.

*Please see the university catalog for the definition of excused and unexcused absences.

CLASSROOM RESPECT

Late Arrivals: Given the nature of the class, it is important that you arrive to class on time. Late arrivals can significantly distract the speaker resulting in an unfair grade for their performance. If you must arrive late during a performance day, please wait until the speaker has sat down before entering the classroom.

Cell Phones: Please make sure that all cell phones are turned off before class starts. If you have an emergency call that you are expecting, please let the instructor know prior to the start of class.

Text Messaging: Please refrain from texting others during class time. This is extremely distracting and disrespectful to the instructor and to other speakers who expect your attention.

Laptops: Feel free to bring a laptop to take notes during class BUT other uses of the computer such as e-mailing friends, gaming, or surfing the WEB for unrelated class material, may result in class dismissal.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

Plagiarism: Copying another's work without proper citation of the source constitutes plagiarism. Plagiarism in any form will not be tolerated. A student that is found plagiarizing another's work will automatically receive an "F" in the course and may be subject to further university discipline.

Cheating: According to university policy, cheating is defined as the use of any unauthorized materials during an academic exercise to include notes, study aids etc. Cheating also includes the viewing of another person's work or securing any part of an assignment or examination in advance of distribution by the instructor. Cheating will not be tolerated in this class and will result in an automatic "F" for the class and the possible recommendation of suspension or expulsion from the university.

COURSE EVALUATION

The Modified Legal Brief (25%) This may be the most important assignment in the class, as the determination of your story and your anticipation of the story of the opposition will affect all of the succeeding assignments. Make sure to adequately document all sources used, throughout the document in either APA or MLA citation formats. The legal brief should contain a minimum of twenty (20) reliable outside sources. Additional instruction will be provided, but at a minimum, the brief shall include the following elements:

Opening Statement (10%) Each student will prepare a portion of the opening statement and will be graded individually on their development of the theme in their statement. Although students will be graded individually, it is important that both portions of the opening statement reflect a cohesive theme. Who will present which elements of the story? Who will address the jury first; who will address the jury second? How will the exhibits and witnesses chosen for this story affect the opening statement? Each student's opening statement should be 8-10 minutes in length.

Direct Examination/ Cross Examination (15%) The direct examination of witnesses will include preparing each of your witnesses for their presentation without either leading them or changing any of the facts of the case. Each student will have the opportunity to question two witnesses in the case. The cross examination of witnesses will require a complete understanding of each of the witnesses that the opposing side has chosen to call. This requires an extensive history of the potential testimony of each witness and how these testimonies will be discredited or used in furthering your "story". Like the direct exam, each student cross-examines two witnesses.

Witness Testimony (2 @ 5% = 10%) Each student will have the opportunity to serve as a witness in two cases. This will require a review of everything that you can find about the particular witness so as to adequately convey the appropriate answers and mannerisms that they might have portrayed during the trial. Witnesses not included in the first trial can still be used, but their knowledge is limited to the time of the initial trial. If new technology now makes it possible to know things that were unknown at the time of the trial, the material cannot be used. Your witness assignment will be based on the choice of witnesses made by both the prosecution and defense in each case.

Closing Statements (10%) – This is an opportunity for both of the legal partners to pull the "story" together based on the witnesses that have been presented, the direct exam, the cross exam, exhibits and any other items that have been relevant to the case. Each student's opening statement should be 8-10 minutes in length.

Exams (2 @ 15%) Each of the exams will consist of twenty questions that will be given to the students prior to the exam day. On the day of the exam, twelve questions will be randomly drawn and students will each answer ten of the twelve. The questions will focus on the application of theory to the legal process. Students will be graded on the following criteria for each question: 1) understanding the breathe and depth of the question, 2) appropriate application of communication theory, 3) thoroughness and completeness of the answer to each question, 4) ability to relate outside material to each question where appropriate, and 5) the overall quality of the answer to each question.
