

Marshall University Graduate College

Graduate Humanities Program

Graduate Humanities Course

Museum Studies & Exhibit Design

Lauren Henkin, From Sunrise, archival ultrachrome print, 2005

Image from photography exhibition, The Other Charleston, by Lauren Henkin, with exhibit design and installation by members of the class
October 18 - November 8, 2007

Opening Reception: October 18, 5:00 - 8:00 pm Charleston Art Walk
Good News Mountaineer Garage Gallery, 221 Hale Street, Charleston, West Virginia
For more info: laurenhenkin.com

Fall Semester, August 20 - December 11, 2007
Thursdays, 7:00 - 9:50 pm
Instructor: Mark Tobin Moore, MA, MFA
Contact: 304-343-6750 email: tobinmrs@aol.com

Course Description: This course will combine classroom and studio-focused instruction to explore the process of exhibit design. Students will construct an actual exhibit and learn how to situate this training within larger currents of museum study.

Location: Marshall University Graduate College, South Charleston and
The Blue Door Art Studio, 223 Hale Street (Rear), Charleston

Fall MUGC Humanities Courses offered:

- HUMN 680: Independent Research Symposium
- CULS 600-131: Folklore
- HUMN 601: Literary Theory and Criticism
- A&S 600: Museum Studies and Exhibit Design (sequence in Public Humanities)
- CULS 600-132: Islamic Studies
- HUMN 604: Expository Writing for Research
- LITS 600-131: Fiction into Film
- LITS 600-132: Victorian Poetry
- CULS 500: Studies in Thought and Culture