A "Grant Chat" is scheduled for Friday, April 25, 2008, to sketch out year-long grant calendars to ensure that all required elements of grant proposals are met. Register now

In addition, MU-ADVANCE will offer another CV development workshop, to be held during the summer. Contact Heidi Williams if you are interested in participating.

Farewell to the Faculty: Dr. Mary Etta Hight

Dr. Mary Etta Hight will retire from Marshall University's Department of Biological Sciences at the end of the Spring semester, after having spent 32 years as a faculty member. After the close of her "great ride," Dr. Hight plans to spend retirement gardening, travelling, and perhaps even finishing a book on the mammals of West Virginia. MU-ADVANCE extends a sincere thank you to Dr. Hight for her dedication to Marshall. More...

Resource: Grant and Contract Services

The University of Texas at Arlington has developed a website dedicated to the grant writing process.

Here (<http://www.uta.edu/ra/GCS/grantwriting.htm>) you will find tips on such things as how to develop a grant proposal, sample proposals, and links to different funding agencies. Of particular interest is a sample timeline, highlighting when certain aspects of the grant writing process should occur.

Recommendations or suggestions for additional resources for the MU-ADVANCE Office can be sent to Heidi Williams: (willi143@marshall.edu).
