News: STaR Symposium

Friday, April 24, 2009

The Science, Technology, and Research (STaR) Symposium, held April 14-15, 2009, brought together key researchers from around the state to discuss current and future scientific developments. A wrap up, including texts of the presentations, has been posted. More...

Meet the Faculty: Dr. Evelyn Pupplo-Cody

Dr. Evelyn Pupplo-Cody is a professor in, and the undergraduate advisor for, the Department of Mathematics. In response to attrition rates among STEM students, Dr. Pupplo-Cody is designing a course to improve student success rates in advanced mathematical courses. This 8-week course will focus on mathematical deficiencies among students who have failed or withdrawn from advanced Mathematics courses. A pilot course will be offered during the Fall 2009 semester.
