

Memories of Grandmother

by Natalie Dunn

*Blessed assurance Jesus is mine,
Oh what a foretaste of glory divine!*

Grandma, why do you plant such a huge garden?
You always need a garden. You never know what the winter will bring.
Grandma, did you leave that big dirt pile just for me?
You play as long as you want.

*Heir of Salvation, purchase of God.
Born of His Spirit, washed in His blood.*

Grandma, how long have you had that Bible?
Since I was a little girl.
Grandma, you have so many names in it. Do you know that many people?
Yes, it's all our family.

*This is my story, this is my song.
Praising my Savior all the day long.*

Grandma, your cooking is so good! How do you know how to cook so many things?
Many years of practice.
Grandma, I love your peach cobbler, I just don't like all the peaches.
Why don't you eat some more ice cream?

*This is my story, this is my song.
Praising my Savior all the day long.*

Grandma, do I look pretty in all of your jewelry?
That little thing is just beautiful, just look at her.
Grandma, can I help you hang up those clothes?
You're not quite tall enough, why don't you hand me the pins?

*Perfect submission, perfect delight,
Visions of rapture now burst on my sight*

Grandma, why won't you turn on the air-conditioner? It's hot!
Oh, the heat doesn't bother me.
Grandma, I like to swing with you. You let me swing really high.
Just don't fall off!

*Angels descending, bring from above
Echoes of mercy, whispers of love.*

Mom, why do I have to, Grandma says I don't?

Honey, leave that child alone.

Grandma, you make the best lemonade, it's not sour at all.

I put in extra sugar just for you.

This is my story this is my song.

Praising my Savior all the day long.

Grandma, it's fun hanging all the Christmas lights in your living room.

Watch the cords. Don't shock yourself.

Grandma, someone's at the door!

It's the carolers. Put this blanket around you.

Thank you, Grandma.

This is my story this is my song.

Praising my Savior all the day.
