Rationale for changes:

Define the rationale for EACH type of change here.

A. The name change from Physiology of Exercise to Exercise Physiology reflects the current terminology in the exercise science/exercise physiology field. Secondly, an undergraduate degree major in exercise physiology is being developed; therefore, the course name change should reflect the degree name.

B. The course catalogue description is being changed to reflect 21st century training and scope of practice in the field of exercise science/exercise physiology as defined by the American College of Sports Medicine. Please see the American College of Sports Medicine brochure attached.
