ADMISSION TO THE COLLEGE

1. Regular admission to the university comprises admission to the College of Liberal Arts for students entering as freshmen and as transfers from other institutions. There is no separate admissions process.
2. Liberal Arts will accept inter-college and college transfers in good academic standing.
3. Inter-college transfers with no more than 19 quality point deficiencies will be admitted to the college so long as they have not spent the previous three semesters (excluding summer terms and semesters on academic suspension for deficiency points) on academic probation. When probationary students are accepted for transfer into Liberal Arts the college will count the previous one or two semesters (excluding summer terms and semesters on academic suspension for deficiency points) they have been on probation in another college(s) toward their academic probation grace period of three semesters.

ACADEMIC POLICIES

The college welcomes all students who intend to pursue a degree in a liberal arts discipline.

Advising

The college requires all freshmen and sophomores to see their advisors (or the Academic Advising Center staff if they are Undecided) before they register each semester. This means that if you are a freshman or sophomore, a hold is placed on your registration and your advisor is the only person who can remove it. Some departments, such as Classical Studies, Communication Studies, and Political Science, have extended the advising requirement to all of their majors. Check your department listing in this catalog to determine your exact advising requirements. Your advisor is one of your most important contacts on campus. This is a very good person to get to know. Your advisor will help you with advice and support when you have academic or career questions. During pre-registration, if you are subject to mandatory advising and a hold is placed on your registration, you will need to bring your proposed schedule to your advisor for approval. Although you most often will see your advisor during registration periods, all faculty advisors are available during office hours throughout the semester. You should take the initiative and arrange an appointment with your advisor at any time during the semester when you need advice or help.

Changing Your Major or College

If you want to declare a major, change your major, or transfer to a different college, you should do this in the College of Liberal Arts office.

Choosing a Major

All students in the College of Liberal Arts must be enrolled in classes that satisfy the college core requirements and the requirements for their major in the College of Liberal Arts. If you do not know what field of study in Liberal Arts you want to pursue, you can declare yourself Undecided in Liberal Arts. To declare a major just for the sake of having a major is unwise and unnecessary. However, if you are Undecided in the college, you must intend to select a major in Liberal Arts and should enroll in classes which satisfy core requirements in the college. You can select a major during your freshman or sophomore year, but the college asks juniors or seniors who have not chosen a major to transfer to another college which better meets their needs. You must always keep the college office informed about your selection of a major or your decision to remain Undecided in Liberal Arts. In either case, you should fill out a "Declaration of Major" form during Freshman Orientation or in the College of Liberal Arts office.

Credit Evaluation (Junior Level)

During your junior year, and no later than the semester in which you complete 80 semester hours, you should make an appointment with the Academic Advisor in the College Office for a credit evaluation. This evaluation will show you exactly what course requirements you have completed and exactly what requirements remain. The evaluation will also help ensure that you are making satisfactory progress towards graduation. Apply for graduation in the college office during the first week of the semester in which you plan to graduate.

Credit/Non Credit

No course in the major (except CJ 490 and PSY 370), the minor, or in college core requirements may be taken Credit/Non Credit. Courses you can take Credit/Non Credit include developmental courses, electives, Advanced Placement courses, certain practica, and internships.

Determining Your Catalog

You must meet the catalog requirements in effect at the time you declare your major. You then have ten years in which to complete your program. If you do not meet graduation requirements in this ten year period, then you must meet the curriculum requirements of the catalog in effect at the date of graduation. If you decide to change your major in Liberal Arts or to transfer to another college, you are governed by the catalog in effect at the time of change.

Academic Standing

- Good Standing

You are in good standing when your Marshall and overall GPA are 2.0 or above.

- Academic Probation

If you have a deficit of quality points in your Marshall or overall GPA you are classified "on academic probation." Quality point deficits accumulate as a result of excessive grades of D or F, causing your GPA to fall below a 2.0. If you are on academic probation, an academic hold is placed on your registration status. This means that you must register in person at the Registrar's Office; you cannot use telephone or web registration. You must also secure approval from the associate dean of the college before you can register or change your schedule in any way. Usually you will not be able to register for more than 13 semester hours. If you are on probation and are subject to mandatory advising, first bring your proposed schedule to your advisor. Once your advisor approves your schedule, bring it to the College Office for approval by the associate dean. The associate dean will help you set goals for academic progress. One strategy is to repeat courses taken before the 60th attempted hour in which you received a D or F. (See "D/F Repeat Rule" in this catalog.) When your quality point deficit is removed, you are no longer on academic probation.

Requirements for Continuation in the College: You have a maximum of three consecutive regular semesters plus summer terms (A, B, C, D) to reduce your deficiency to zero (this does not count semesters on academic suspension for deficiency points). If after this grace period you have not reduced your deficiency to zero you will be subject to dismissal from the College of Liberal Arts for five years. Any semester a student achieves a grade point deficiency of 20 points or more or has a 20 point deficiency and does not achieve better than a 2.0 GPA, the student will be suspended for the next regular semester (see the academic suspension section of the catalog).

Requirements for Readmission: Dismissed students will be eligible to reapply for admission to Liberal Arts after a five year period. Dismissed students who have transferred to another institution may apply for readmission to Liberal Arts if their overall and Marshall GPA at that time is 2.0 or above.

DEGREE REQUIREMENTS

Students completing requirements in the College of Liberal Arts receive the Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) degree or a Bachelor of Science (B.S.) degree in Geography. Each degree requires 128 hours of credit. Within the 128 credit hours, you must meet these general and specific requirements:

General Requirements for Graduation

Candidates for graduation must have:

- a minimum of 128 credit hours (100-level or above);
- at least 26 hours in a major subject (see specific departmental requirements), no more than 6 of which may be selected from courses at the 100 level with the exception of History and Geography;
- at least 12 hours in a minor subject, no more than 3 of which may be from the 100 level; the minor subject can be chosen from any department in the university which offers a minor; all courses for a minor are offered in one department with the exception of the minor in Women's Studies (check the department listing in this catalog for specific requirements of the discipline in which you want to minor);
- 48 hours earned in courses numbered 300-499; courses transferred from two-year or community colleges or Advanced Placement credit cannot be used to satisfy the upper division requirement regardless of the MU course equivalent; courses taken at four-year accredited colleges transfer at the level at which they were taken; if you plan to transfer credit to Marshall you should first consult with the associate dean to determine if the credit will apply to your degree program;

- a Grade Point Average of 2.0 or higher on all work attempted at Marshall University, overall collegiate work, and in the major (some departments have more stringent requirements);
- a grade of C or better in English 102 or 201H or 302 (see listing under “English Composition Requirement”);
- all the requirements of the Marshall Plan (see listing under “Marshall Plan”);
- residence requirements of Marshall University, including 15 hours in the major field and 12 hours of 300/400 level coursework in Liberal Arts (see listing under “Residence Requirements”);
- enrollment at Marshall at least one semester of the senior year;
- transfer of no more than 72 credit hours from an accredited West Virginia two-year institution of higher education.

FOUR-YEAR CURRICULA

BASIC HUMANITIES

The Basic Humanities degree program is offered cooperatively by three separate departments: Classical Studies, Philosophy, and Religious Studies (CL/PHL/RST). The faculties of these three departments have created a program of humanistic studies distinctly interdisciplinary yet informed and directed by the specific humanities disciplines involved.

The goal of the program is to encourage students to develop an understanding of themselves and their culture through an exploration of the ways in which mankind orders experience. The means of exploration is the study of texts in its broadest sense—the basic philosophical, religious, and artistic works which continue to shape human cultural experience.

The program consists of three parts:

1. Three required interdisciplinary core courses:

CL/PHL/RST 250 Orientation in Humanities, CL/PHL/RST 350 Basic Humanities, and CL/PHL/RST 499 Humanities Seminar: Capstone. These courses follow the shared humanistic approaches and methodologies of the separate disciplines, but being team-taught, they encourage students to ask questions and find solutions through a comparative and multidisciplinary approach.

2. Three Period Studies courses to be selected from one of two tracks:

Ancient World Track

CL 230 Ancient Greek and Roman Epic, CL 231 Women in Greek and Roman Literature, CL 232 Ancient Greek and Roman Drama, or CL 233 Greek and Roman Historians

PHL 200 Introduction to Philosophy: Ancient Period

RST 304 Teachings of Jesus, RST 320 Literature of the Old Testament, or RST 325, Literature of the New Testament

Modern World Track

CL 319 Classical Mythology

PHL 201 Introduction to Philosophy: Modern Period

RST 205 Introduction to Religion in the Modern World

The period studies requirement provides an introduction to the methodologies of the separate disciplines and gives students a sense of the interrelationship among the diverse offerings of the separate departments. Unlike the interdisciplinary core courses which integrate course content, students are encouraged to discover these interrelations for themselves. Special emphasis is placed on critical thinking, logical expression of thought, and writing skills.

3. Five Courses by Contract to be chosen by the student with the advice of a committee of faculty members. These courses may be selected from the offerings of the three departments or from other humanities or university offerings. After an initial grounding in the content and methods of study of the Basic Humanities program, students have the opportunity to construct an advanced program of study with the advice of a committee of at least two faculty members, each from a different discipline involved in the program. A contracted program may be structured on the basis of chronological period, comparative cultures, traditional academic discipline, theme, or topic. Further information may be obtained from any faculty member in Classical Studies, Philosophy, or Religious Studies.

4. Computer Competency Requirement: CSD 101.

DEPARTMENT OF CLASSICAL STUDIES

Classical Studies is the area of scholarly study which investigates the Greek and Roman past in order to understand ourselves in relation to that past. This academic area includes the archaeologies, histories, literatures, languages, and cultures of ancient Greece and Rome from their neolithic origins until the end of the Fifth Century A.D.

Degrees in Classical Studies and Latin offer the same variety of career opportunities as other Liberal Arts degrees. In general, they provide a broad base of knowledge and intellectual skills that enable individuals to be flexible and versatile in a constantly changing job environment. In particular these degrees provide: a) a solid basis for professional training in law and medicine; b) preparation for occupations connected with Classical Archaeology; c) a basis for work in various government positions where there is a long tradition of people with a classical education; and d) preparation for occupations connected with education, which include teaching in public and private schools as well as at the college and university levels.

The B.A. in Classics through the Basic Humanities Degree program combines interdisciplinary study with a concentration in Classical Studies. This thirty-three hour degree consists of three team-taught interdisciplinary core courses (250, 350, 499), of which the 499 serves as the capstone course for the degree, one lower-division course from Classical Studies, Philosophy and Religious Studies, and five upper-level courses chosen from any discipline. Each student works with an advisor and a committee of faculty to design these contract courses so that they center on a particular interest or area of study.

There are two minors in Classical Studies. A minor in Classical Culture consists of twelve hours selected from CL 319, 370, 435, 436, and 460. A minor in Classical Literature consists of twelve hours selected from CL 230, 231, 232, 233, and 319.

The B.A. In Latin can be acquired through the College of Liberal Arts or the College of Education and Human Services. In both, the degree consists of thirty hours of Latin, eighteen of which must be above Latin 204, and Classics 436 (Roman Civilization.) Latin majors are required to complete a senior portfolio which documents their work in all advanced Latin classes (above LAT 204). When they enroll in their final advanced Latin class (LAT 404, 408, 409, or 410), they must also enroll in Latin 499, the Latin Capstone Experience, the non-credit course in which they will complete this portfolio. The approval of this portfolio by the faculty of the Department of Classical Studies is required for graduation. We also recommend that students who are planning to pursue graduate education in Classical Philology take two years of Greek.

A minor in Latin consists of twelve hours, nine of which must be above the 100 level. A minor in Greek consists of Greek 201, 202, 301, and 302.

In addition to the specific major requirements, students must fulfill the general and specific requirements for the B.A. Degree in the College of Liberal Arts or the College of Education and Human Services, and must demonstrate a proficiency in computer literacy through completion of CSD 101, and a proficiency in writing through examination by the department.

Master of Arts in Teaching

Students who are planning a career in secondary school education can complete their preparation for this field with the Master of Arts in Teaching offered by the College of Education and Human Services. This degree combines the undergraduate major in Latin with education courses and clinical experience. Students must specialize in a second content area in addition to Latin.

The Department of English offers a wide range of courses in literature, language, and writing. These courses are designed to meet the needs and interests of English majors in the various colleges, of English minors, and of students majoring in other fields.

Four areas of emphasis are available to the English major: a Literature English Major, a Writing English Major, a Pre-professional English Major, and an English Education English Major.

Although the emphases of each area differ, the goals are essentially the same: an acquaintance with English and American literature necessary for the liberally educated person; a knowledge of the language necessary for perceptive reading and writing; an ability to write English with competence and grace; and a sense of English studies as a discipline. The capstone experience for English majors consists of two courses, 350 (Junior Seminar) and 420 (Senior Seminar). An exit portfolio is required.

Literature English Major: 317, 319 (6 hrs.); 321, 350 (6 hrs.); 306, 313, or 315 (3 hrs.); 410 or 412 (3 hrs.); 405 or 475 (3 hrs.); 450 or 451 (3 hrs.); 409 or 411 (3 hrs.); 420 (3 hrs.); electives (6 hrs.). Geography majors have access to the latest technology as well as the traditional foundations and tools of the discipline. The department maintains a large map library as well as a cartography and geographic information systems (GIS) lab. Students in Geography at Marshall enjoy many unique opportunities to interact with faculty and other students, and to actively participate in regional and national level geography organizations. Graduates of the program have enjoyed successful careers as urban and regional planners, cartographers, GIS technicians, environmental consultants, tourism professionals, mineral resource analysts, historic preservation planners, transportation planners, and teachers. Many of our majors have secured employment prior to graduation, reflecting the growing demand for professional geographers in a variety of fields.

Students in the College of Liberal Arts may major in Geography and earn either a B.A. or B.S. degree. The degree option is offered to enable students with either a social science or science orientation to prepare for a career in geography. A major in Geography consists of several core requirements and a capstone course (GEO 420). Majors must also demonstrate a proficiency in computer literacy by completing GEO 429 or CSD 101 or ITL 468.

The Bachelor of Arts degree in Geography is designed for those students who prefer greater curriculum flexibility and who have more of an interest in human geography (including planning and geographic techniques). The Bachelor of Science degree in Geography is for students interested in the more technical and scientific aspects of physical geography, environmental studies, planning, cartography, remote sensing, and GIS.

Students wishing to earn the B.A. degree must specialize in planning, geographic techniques, or generalist in human geography. Students pursuing the B.S. degree must specialize in either planning or geographic techniques, in addition to meeting the minor requirements for the College of Science and taking additional coursework in statistics or Sociology 345, Mathematics 225 (or any course above Mathematics 121).

All geography majors are required to earn a C or better in their geography coursework if those hours are to count toward graduation.

The following core courses are required of all majors, both B.A. and B.S. students:

Requirements	Credit Hours
Geography 100, 101, 203, 317, 421, 429	19
Geography 420 (Capstone)	3
Total Required	22

Students earning a B.A. in Geography must complete a minimum total of 37 required hours, while those interested in earning the B.S. degree in Geography must complete a minimum total of 40 required hours.

The department offers the following specializations:

Generalist in Human Geography (B.A. only)

Suggested	Credit Hours
Systematic Courses: Geography 320, 401, 405, 410, 416, 417, 425	9
Regional Courses: Geography 302, 315, 401, 412, 414, 415	6
Total	15

Planning (B.A. or B.S.)

Suggested	Credit Hours
Geography 320, 410, 414, 415, 416, 430	15

Geographic Techniques (B.A. or B.S.)

Suggested	Credit Hours
Geography 320, 410, 425, 430	12
Physics 410	4
Total	16

In addition to specializing in planning or geographic techniques, candidates for the B.S. degree must also successfully complete a statistics or higher math course:

Requirement	Credit Hours

The study of history provides an essential component of liberal arts education and offers valuable preparation for careers in law, journalism, teaching, government, the ministry, library and museum work, and in those areas of the business world where a knowledge of foreign affairs and culture is desirable. History also serves as an indispensable adjunct to careers in the humanities and social sciences. More broadly, by exposure to a variety of cultures and human experiences, the discipline of history seeks to prepare students for the responsibilities of citizenship and for dealing with the ambiguities of human existence. The Department of History at Marshall also makes every effort to help students think critically, to view events with perspective and objectivity, and to appreciate the complexity of human experience and the difficulty of interpreting it.

Within the 128 semester hours students must earn for the B.A. degree, the major in History requires 36 semester hours of History, including HST 101, 102, 103, 200, 230, 231, 400. Students must also take at least one course from each group of courses listed below. Twelve hours in History must be in courses above the 200 level.

Minor in History

A minor in History requires at least twelve hours in History; no more than three taken at the 100 level can be counted toward the minor.

Teacher Certification in Social Studies

Students interested in pursuing teaching certification, Social Studies Comprehensive, 5-12, or Social Studies, 5-8, should see the Dean of the College of Education and Human Services.

Marshall Plan

History majors fulfill the Marshall Plan computer literacy requirement by successful completion of CSD 101 or its equivalent. By successful completion of HST 400, History majors fulfill the capstone experience requirement.

Master of Arts in Teaching

History majors may wish to explore as early as possible in their undergraduate program the graduate option of the Master of Arts in Teaching. The MAT combines the academic content of a history undergraduate degree with graduate professional education and clinical experiences. The MAT provides an alternative and accelerated means for teaching certification in grades 5-12. Interested students should discuss the MAT with their History advisor so that they can plan their undergraduate program accordingly.

INTERNATIONAL AFFAIRS

A major in international affairs combines studies in economics, geography, history, and political science and emphasizes the study of a foreign language.

A major in international affairs must meet the specific and general requirements for the B.A. degree except as altered by the following requirements:

- a. The student will concentrate on a single foreign language. A minimum of nine hours is required beyond the 12-hour sequence. All available conversational courses should be taken. Reading track courses may not be credited to the International Affairs major.
- b. The following courses are required:

- f. International Affairs majors shall, in their senior year, take the designated capstone course in either economics, history or political science. They should declare their intent on a form, filed with the advisor, at the beginning of their junior year so as to allow space in their schedule to take the departmental capstone course(s) when offered.

DEPARTMENT OF MODERN LANGUAGES

Professors

The study of modern foreign languages emphasizes the development of mental abilities—increased powers of observation, analysis, logical reasoning, memory, and adaptability—which are immediately transferable to other areas of higher education and to a diversity of careers. In learning to understand, speak, read, and write a foreign language a student acquires direct access to another view of the world at a time when intercultural understanding, both at the national and international levels has become an urgent priority.

Opportunities

Majors in modern foreign languages have opportunities in the fields of law, government, translation and interpretation, education, communications media, library and museum science, publishing, law enforcement, international business, and the travel industry.

Major in Modern Languages

A major in one of the modern languages (French, German, or Spanish) consists of thirty semester hours in the same language. Eighteen hours must be in courses numbered above 204 and must include nine hours of courses at the 400 level. For a major in Latin, see Classical Studies. The department, in conjunction with the center for International Programs, also offers courses in beginning and intermediate conversational Japanese. This series of four courses also fulfills the foreign language requirement

Minor in Modern Languages

A minor in French, German, or Spanish may be earned by presenting 12 hours in the designated language, with no more than 3 credits at the 100 level.

Computer Literacy

Students should have completed CSD 101 or its equivalent.

Course Sequence/Prerequisites

Courses must be taken in sequence except by permission of the chair. Students enrolled without proper course prerequisites will be administratively withdrawn.

Credit Transfer

The Department of Modern Languages does not accept the transfer of credits earned in courses taken by correspondence.

Capstone Policy

Graduating majors in French, German, or Spanish will designate one 400-level literature or culture course in their senior year as the capstone experience. In exceptional cases another upper division course may be so designated with permission of the chair. In addition to the normal course requirements the student will integrate as much as possible the various competencies developed throughout his or her foreign language study. The project will culminate in a research paper whose principal findings will be delivered in a class presentation toward the end of the term. Graduating majors will in this way be able to demonstrate their degree of proficiency in the target language.

Summer Study Programs Abroad (Sponsored by the Dept. of Modern Languages and the Center for International Programs)

- French Language and Culture Program in Lyon, France: Students can earn six hours of academic credit by studying at the Universite Catholique de Lyon, France during the month of July. The program offers a broad range of courses, including elementary, intermediate, and advanced French language, composition, conversation, literature, history and art. The instructors are native speakers of French who hold advanced university degrees and who are fully accredited by the French Ministry of Education. A Marshall University professor will accompany the group and will provide supervision, assistance and supplemental instruction. Every year the students enrolled in the program depart the 30th of June and return August 1st. While in Lyon, students reside with families. The cost of the program includes tuition (6 hours) and room and board (three meals a day) for a month. Contact Prof. Eric Migernier in the Dept. of Modern Languages for specific information and to obtain application forms.
- Spanish Language and Culture Program in Madrid, Spain: Students can earn six hours of academic credit in a month (June or July) or twelve hours of academic credit in two months (June and July) by studying at the Centro de Estudios Hispánicos of the Universidad Antonio de Nebrija in Madrid, Spain. The program offers a broad range of courses, including elementary, intermediate, and advanced Spanish language, composition, conversation, literature, history and art. The instructors are native speakers of Spanish who hold advanced university degrees and who are fully accredited by the Spanish Ministry of Education. A Marshall University professor will accompany the group and will provide supervision, assistance and supplemental instruction.

Every year the students enrolled in the program depart the 30th of May and return June 30 or July 31st. While in Madrid, students reside with families. The cost of the program includes tuition (6 or 12 hours) and room and board (three meals a day) for a month or two. Contact Prof. Maria Carmen Riddel in the Dept. of Modern Languages for specific information and to obtain application forms.

A concentration in Philosophy leads to a degree in Basic Humanities. Philosophy asks very basic questions about the nature of reality. Because these questions include our own reality—what we are as human beings—philosophy activates and makes grow what we ourselves in fact are. Part of being human is to be with others in a world, and philosophy is also the growth of our relations with other people and with the world around and in us. We teach this growth in the form of the deepest reasoning we can give in response to our questions.

Major requirements may be found under Basic Humanities., and a minor in philosophy consists of 15 hours. Philosophy students complete the computer competency requirement of the Marshall Plan by completing CSD 101.

The political science curriculum has two objectives: first, to provide a basic understanding of the functioning of government in preparation for democratic citizenship and second, to give a specialized foundation to those planning to enter law school, government service (foreign service, public administration), teaching, research, politics, or business.

A major in political science must fulfill the general and specific requirements for the B.A. degree and must complete 36 hours in political science, including Political Science 104, 105, 211, and 499 (Capstone Experience). In addition, each major must take at least three courses in any one of the six fields into which political science offerings are divided and at least one course in any three of the remaining five fields.

The fields of the political science curriculum with courses in each are as follows:

- American State, Local, and Urban Politics: 202, 301, 376, 381, 383, 436, 440, 461
- American National Politics: 303, 307, 376, 381, 383, 423, 436, 440, 460, 484
- Comparative Politics: 207, 407, 408, 409, 410, 411, 422, 424, 428, 429

- International Politics: 309, 405, 406, 415, 420, 423, 424, 429
- Political Theory: 200, 421, 425, 426, 428, 429
- Public Administration and Public Policy: 233, 311, 333, 433, 450, 452, 453, 454

Courses that appear in more than one field may not be counted twice.

A minor in political science consists of completing 12 credit hours, in any combination, from the courses listed above.

The computer competency requirement is fulfilled by successfully completing PSC 211.

Recommended electives include Economics (especially 250 and 253); History 205 and 206 (for pre-law students), 230, 231; Accounting 215 and 216 (for pre-law students); Philosophy; Psychology; Sociology; Communications Studies 310; and English 408.

Psychology is the scientific study of human cognition, affect, behavior, and relationships. Psychologists seek to understand, predict and influence behavior through research into a wide range of issues which affect human functioning, including social, physiological, developmental, cognitive and emotional factors. Research methodology is central to the discipline, and all psychology majors learn about research strategies and methods of data analysis.

The psychology major earns a liberal arts B.A. degree while also preparing for a variety of post-baccalaureate options. These include: a) graduate education in such fields as psychology, medicine, law or business; b) work in business, industry and organizations; and c) work in mental health and social service settings.

Since graduate education is essential for students hoping to become psychologists and since admission into graduate programs in psychology is quite competitive, students with graduate education goals are encouraged to work particularly closely with their advisors throughout their undergraduate careers.

Please note that for all upper division (300- and 400-level) Psychology courses, prerequisites include successful completion of at least 12 college credits at the 100-level or higher.

B.A. Program in Psychology (33 credit hours in Psychology)

Students may apply in the College of Liberal Arts to become psychology majors after they:

1. Complete the following three courses with a grade of C or better in each: PSY 201, ENG 101, MTH 121 or higher.

2. Complete at least 6 additional credit hours at the 100 level or above.
3. Marshall and overall GPA's of at least 2.0 at the time of application to be a major.

Required Courses: (21 credits)

1. General Psychology - PSY 201.

4. Choose at least one from the Social/Personality Perspective: PSY 302, PSY 360, PSY 408, PSY 418, PSY 420, PSY 426.
5. Choose at least one from the Experimental/Biopsychology Perspective: PSY 324, PSY 350, PSY 416, PSY 417, PSY 440.
6. Choose at least one from the Developmental/Individual Perspective: PSY 311, PSY 312, PSY 330, PSY 406.
7. Capstone Course: After consulting with your advisor, choose one of the capstone options. PSY 456, PSY 457, PSY 460, PSY 470, PSY 471, PSY 499. Not all will be available every semester, so you may not be able to enroll in your first choice. See description of "capstone" on the next page.
8. Computer Literacy requirement: either CSD 101 or CT 101.

Electives: (12 credits)

Students may select any additional 4 courses (12 credits) in psychology to complete their major requirements. Students are strongly urged to consult with their advisors about these important choices. The groupings of courses listed below are intended to guide the selections of students with specific educational and career objectives.

1. Majors intending to apply for graduate/professional schools (e.g., Psychology, Medical School, Law School): PSY 302, PSY 311/312, PSY 406, PSY 408, PSY 416, PSY 417, PSY 440, PSY 456, PSY 460. Suggestions for minor: consult with your advisor.

4. Majors who wish to use psychology as a general Liberal Arts degree: Follow requirements and any minor (whatever interests you, in consultations with advisor).

Remember, a minimum of 33 hours of Psychology is required for the major, but a student may take more hours than that.

Minor in Psychology

Students may choose to minor in psychology, which requires a total of 12 credit hours in psychology. Students are free to choose any 12 hours, but are encouraged to consult with a department faculty member about the appropriate choices, given their educational and career goals.

Capstone

Psychology majors can satisfy the capstone requirement by successfully completing one of several courses: Research in Psychology (PSY 456-457); an undergraduate practicum in either clinical or industrial/organizational psychology (PSY 470 or 471); the capstone seminar (PSY 499), which will focus on a variety of topics, or History and Systems of Psychology (PSY460).

Permission to enroll as a capstone student is required from the instructor, and there is an application process for admission to PSY 470, 471, 456, and 457. Advanced students can take more than one of these courses, but only one will be used for the capstone experience. Check with your advisor in your junior year for specific capstone requirements.

The academic exploration of religion leading to a major emphasis in Religious Studies is possible because we are a component of the program in Basic Humanities. Along with the departments of Philosophy and Classical Studies, we offer a diversified, interdisciplinary, team-taught curriculum in which students share in the shaping of their individual “contract” major. For details of required courses including the capstone, and an explanation of how to develop a contract, see the section titled Basic Humanities. Members of the department place great emphasis upon faculty-student advising. You are encouraged to contact a full-time member of the faculty to discuss the possibilities open to you, including the possibility of a “double major,” at any time.

A minor in Religious Studies consists of 12 hours.

In addition to the specific major requirements, students must fulfill the general and specific requirements for the B.A. Degree in the College of Liberal Arts, and must demonstrate a proficiency in computer literacy through completion of CSD 101, and a proficiency in writing through examination by the department.
