

2027 WV Young Writers Contest Information

Since 1984, the West Virginia Young Writers Contest has celebrated student writing in the state. The contest grows out of a deep commitment to writing in all subjects, and to the publishing, displaying, and celebrating of student writing.

Teachers and administrators in each county will encourage students to submit writing for judging, first at the school, and then at the county level. Submissions may be on any topic and in any prose genre: fiction, nonfiction, narrative, memoir, or essay. Poetry is not eligible for submission and submissions must be free of graphics. Entries should be the sole creation of the student and composed during the current school year. Process writing and writing workshops practices are acceptable means for developing entries.

Home-schooled students and students in private schools may participate, subject to the guidelines and supervision by the county in which they reside. YWC County Coordinators are encouraged to share contest information with private schools and home school associations. Winning entries from private schools and from home-schooled students must be judged at the county level.

Leaders from the Central West Virginia Writing Project (CWVWP) at Marshall University will judge entries on the following criteria: Ideas, Organization, Voice, Word Choice, Sentence Fluency, and Conventions.

Entries submitted for state competition at categories below must not exceed word length limits:

Grade 1-2	300 words	Grade 3-4	500 words	Grade 5-6	800 words
Grade 7-8	800 words	Grade 9-10	1,000 words	Grade 11-12	1,200 words

Schools should submit entries to County Coordinators by February 12, 2027. A completed cover sheet must accompany each entry for county judging. Additional directions from individual counties will be forwarded to schools regarding entries for judging at the county level. County Coordinators submit winning entries and related documents to the state-level contest by Monday, March 1, 2027. No entries will be accepted from students, teachers, or school personnel.

State winners will be notified in March but not announced to the public until Young Writers Day on May 7, 2027, at the University of Charleston. First-place County winners will receive commemorative certificates and participate in workshops with published authors/presenters on WV Young Writers Day.

Contest forms and submission directions can be found on the CWVWP webpage:

<http://www.marshall.edu/cwvwp/young-writers/contest/>

and at the West Virginia Department of Education website:

<https://wvde.us/middle-secondary-learning/ela/student-programs/>

Questions about the Contest?

Contact: Dr. Maggie Luma, Director CWVWP maggie.luma@marshall.edu or 732-261-3397