3. Announcements – Chair

1. The President has signed the following documents:
 - a. February 10 Executive Committee Meeting Minutes
 - b. February 20 Faculty Senate Meeting Minutes
 - c. All Senate Recommendations/Resolutions, except those out that are pending out for shared governance review.
2. Two weeks ago, we hosted the Spring General Faculty Meeting. Earlier that same week, I also delivered my annual address to the Board of Governors.
3. The WV Legislature completed its 60-day session on April 12 at 12:00 midnight. They passed SB 474, which limits DEI initiatives on campus, and HB 3279, which removes voting power from the faculty, student, and staff representatives on the Board of Governors.
4. I would like to congratulate Conner Waller, who was just elected as the new SGA President. He will be replacing Brea Belville, who unfortunately is under the weather and cannot be there tonight. Thank you, Brea, for your service!
5. The Faculty Senate office is currently running three elections.
 - a. The nominations for faculty representatives to the Advisory Council of Faculty and Board of Governors closed last Friday and we have three candidates for ACF and two for BOG. These are two-year terms elected every odd year. We will distribute this ballot together next week with the vote to amend the Faculty Constitution (assuming we make that recommendation today).
 - b. Our South Charleston representative on the Faculty Senate, Tom Hisiro, is retiring this academic year so the Senate Office will hold an election for his replacement. We received one self-nomination and will conduct that election next week.
6. The Presidential AI Task Force has been very busy. Please check out our new one-stop-shop website www.marshall.edu/ai. Next Monday and Tuesday, we are hosting “AI Days” on campus with several representatives from Adobe, Coursera, Anthology, and more on campus engaging with our community in demonstrations and discussions about their AI products and offerings. I know it’s a busy week, please try to attend our main showcase Tuesday, April 29, 3:00-4:00 PM in the Don Morris Room. A special thanks to IT and the Design Center for setting this up.
7. This is our last meeting of the academic year. The Faculty Senate Office just emailed all faculty our meeting calendar for the 2025-26 Academic Year, including Faculty Senate, Faculty Senate Executive Committee, and the General Faculty meetings. Please put these on your calendar now. They are also available on the Faculty Senate website.

5. Regular Reports

i. President – Brad Smith (15 minutes)

- Thank you, Mr. Chairman.
- Good afternoon, my friends and congratulations on the imminent completion of another successful academic year!
- It's been an extraordinary year ...
 - One filled with challenge and accomplishment ...
 - But here we are ... still standing ...
 - United by a common purpose ...
 - Side by side, bonded by our commitment to shared governance
 - And continuing to build momentum, despite the headwinds and countervailing forces that surround us.
- Given that I recently covered a comprehensive state of the university update, highlighting the major challenges and accomplishments we've navigated & delivered at the Spring General Faculty Meeting ...
 - I'll forgo a detailed recap of the year today, and simply direct those who weren't able to attend the Spring General Faculty Meeting to watch the livestream.
- Instead, I'm going to keep my comments brief and focus on two topics before opening it up to any questions you may have ...
 - The first topic is an update on where our state appropriations landed at the end of the legislative session.
 - And the second is a celebration of a dear colleague and friend.
- Starting with our state appropriations ...
 - If you recall, the Governor began the session in his inaugural state of the state address, highlighting the $400M fiscal deficit he projects in the coming years, and the need to curtail spending.

- As a result, he put forth a budget that eliminated several line items at Marshall that reduced our state appropriations by roughly $800,000.
- We engaged daily on these items, advocating that education is an investment, not an expense ... and one that produces outsized returns for the students and their families, the state and the nation overall ...
 - We were able to back this up with data, showing that for every $1.00 the state invests in Marshall, the state receives an 18X return in economic impact.
- This led the House to restore the line items in their version of the budget ... but was modified in a few areas by the Senate
 - We once again engaged, helping to explain the areas in question, and not only succeeded in restoring those line items ...
 - But the Senate then asked Marshall to become the stewards for the National Youth Science Camp in Tucker County ...
 - A program founded in 1963 that hosts the top two STEM students from all 50 states and 16 countries in South America ...
 - An iconic program that inspires learning and creativity year while showcasing what our state has to offer to these top students.
 - This request came with an additional $1M to be used specifically for this purpose, which we humbly accepted.
- The net result, after a lot of back and forth, is a state appropriation that went from a reduction to a restored budget, with an increased vote of confidence in Marshall's ability to manage our fiscal house ...
 - And being asked to steward one of our state's most storied education programs moving forward.
- While this doesn't negate the need to reduce our FY'26 expenses by 4% as we continue to navigate the impacts of no federal earmarks or plus-ups as the nation operates with a continuing resolution versus an approved budget ...
 - Daily DOGE reductions ...
 - A delay in reviewing many research applications ...
 - Expanding caps on research funding for indirect cost recovery
 - And other secular headwinds ...
- It does illustrate that by staying focused on our mission, guided by our strategic roadmap – Marshall For All, Marshall Forever – and by working together ...

- We continue to make the case for the importance of higher education while strengthening our position to weather the storms that may arise in the months and years to come.
- I want to thank our Government Relations team, and each of you, for all that you invested in achieving these outcomes together.
- Which takes me to my second topic, a celebration of a dear colleague and friend.
 - It is with mixed emotions that this will be the final faculty senate meeting for Avi, our esteemed Provost and Senior Vice President for Academic Affairs, who will be stepping down to become the next Provost and Executive Vice President at Georgia Southern University, effective July 1, 2025.
 - Avi joined Marshall in 2017 as Dean of the Lewis College of Business, where he led a bold reimagining of the college.
 - In 2021, he stepped into the role of Interim Provost and was named to the position permanently in 2022.
 - As Provost, Avi championed strategic enrollment management, student success, leadership development, research, fundraising, accreditation, entrepreneurship, experiential learning and global partnerships.
 - His leadership and vision have left a lasting legacy of innovation and excellence at Marshall.
 - Avi is not only a trusted thought partner, but also a dear friend.
 - While we are sad to see him go, we are deeply grateful for his years of dedicated service and transformative contributions.
 - As I shared in my campus-wide e-mail last week, we are moving quickly to ensure a seamless transition.
 - Dean Bookwalter has agreed to serve as the Interim Provost, effective July 1st.
 - I want to publicly thank Bookie for postponing his retirement and agreeing to serve in this capacity.
 - We delivered the charge this past Tuesday to the shared governance search and screen committee, with representatives from each college and our respective shared governance constituents.
 - We've partnered with Academic Search, the same firm that led our Presidential Search, our most recent Provost Search, as well as the search process for many senior administrative positions.

- Finalist interviews are scheduled for the week of September 22 on campus.
- It is our intention to have Marshall's new provost on board by the start of the Spring 2026 semester.
 - A full schedule of the search process, as well as a complete list of search committee members is available at marshall.edu/provost-search/.
- Please join me in wishing Avi continued success in his new role at Georgia Southern University.
- And I wish to extend my congratulations and heartfelt gratitude to each of you ...
- For all you've contributed to navigating the challenges and achieving the accomplishments you've achieved in this academic year ...
- And with that, I'll conclude my remarks and open it up to any questions you may have ...

Harvard Case Study

- Why Marshall's Approach to DEI Had to Differ from Harvard's
 - It's natural for university communities to look at how institutions like Harvard respond to DEI-related pressures and wish to emulate their strong public stance.
 - At Marshall, we share many of the same values: a commitment to inclusion, academic freedom, and the pursuit of knowledge in all its complexity.
 - But as a public university, our institutional latitude is inherently different.
- First, we are bound by state law
 - Marshall University is governed by the laws and policies enacted by the State of West Virginia.
 - Unlike private universities such as Harvard, which operate independently of state legislatures, Marshall is subject to state statutes—including those regulating the use of public property, funds and institutional practices.
 - Once Senate Bill 474 was passed and signed into law, Marshall had a legal obligation to comply.
 - Noncompliance would jeopardize state funding, create legal liabilities, and erode public trust.
- As a result, we were challenged to find ways to navigate compliance, while preserving values
 - Our approach has not been one of quiet acceptance.
 - We worked diligently behind the scenes, guided by a shared governance team ... to negotiate carve-outs that preserved core academic freedoms—protecting instruction, research, and student expression.
 - These strategic exceptions reflect our values and are a testament to the constructive influence higher education can still have in policymaking, even under constraints.
- The difference comes down to public accountability vs. private autonomy.

Marshall University Faculty Senate
Meeting Minutes
Thursday, April 24, 2025, 4:00 PM
BE-5 (Microsoft Teams Streaming Only)

- Harvard, as a private institution, operates with greater autonomy and financial independence.
 - It can absorb the political and financial consequences of defying federal or state directives.
- Marshall, as a steward of public resources and a servant of the state's citizens, must exercise its influence more diplomatically.
 - Our duty is to uphold our mission while remaining accountable to a diverse array of stakeholders—students, parents, legislators, and taxpayers.
- Our ultimate goal was the long game, prioritizing Mission over Moment
 - While Harvard can afford to confront power head-on, Marshall must often work through consensus, dialogue, and adaptation.
 - Our approach is not a sign of weakness—but of strategy.
 - We are committed to equity and inclusion, and we are advancing that commitment in ways that are durable, lawful, and responsive to our context.

b. Standing Committee Liaison Reports

i. Legislative Affairs Committee – Marybeth Beller (4 minutes)

The Legislative Affairs Committee met April 1st.

We discussed bills that were still under consideration. The legislative session ended April 12th. The bills affecting higher education that completed legislation include two rules bills, 2773 and 3192, and the following:

280, requiring institutions of higher education to display a durable poster in “the main building” which contains a picture of the American flag with the motto “in God We Trust.” The poster must be at least 8.5” by 11” and is subject to being provided by a donor.

474, which prohibits institutions from hiring staff for the purpose of DEIA related activity of having offices dedicated to such or to consider DEIA as conditions of employment.

Exempt from this bill are: course instruction; Title IX work; single-sex spaces or athletic programs; research or creative works by students faculty, or other research personnel; activities of registered student organizations; arrangements for guest speakers or other short-term engagements; policies designed to meet accreditation standards; mental or physical health services; policies designed to prevent sexual harassment; donor-designated scholarships; and sex-based education opportunities such as STEM for women.

825 which allows higher education institutions to contract with private organizations for the purpose of economic development and job creation and also for programs and services related to intercollegiate activities.

3024, the guaranteed course transfer bill, which forms an advisory committee composed of one member from each institution of higher education to secure a smooth process for the transfer of credit. The Chancellor of HEPC will appoint the chair of this committee. The goal of the committee is to make certain that any graduate of an accredited Associate Degree program who has completed 60 hours, including any AP or dual credit courses, shall be enrolled in a four-year institution with full credit for general education courses.

The Legislative Affairs Committee elected Marybeth Beller to serve as chair for the 2025-26 academic year. A secretary for the committee will be elected at its first meeting next September.

ii. University Curriculum Committee – Tim Melvin (4 minutes)

Last meeting was 3/14 where all agenda items were approved.

iii. Faculty Personnel Committee – Chair/Liaison (4 minutes)

No report

iv. Research Committee – Philippe Georgel (4 minutes)

The Research Committee met on March 14, 2025, March 28, 2025, and April 17, 2025.

On March 14, 2025, and March 28, 2025

1. Policy UPAA-17: The committee discussed the introduction of policy UPAA-17 presented by Dr. Carl Mummert.

The Purpose and scope of the policy are described below:

- a) Purpose. The purpose of this policy is to establish guidelines for Marshall University faculty who receive compensation from grants, contracts, and other externally sponsored projects.
- b) Scope. This policy applies to all faculty members in Marshall University academic units who are engaged in research, contracts, projects, or other activities conducted under the auspices of external funding sources. It includes those with full-year appointments or with academic year appointments, and those participating in summer research activities.

An extensive discussion followed leading to the suggestion for several modifications (details below)

Amendments introduced by FSRC:

1. Strike out section 4.4 to allow for current standing salary caps of 200% in the school of medicine and similar situations.
2. Potential amendment to section 4.2.2
3. Section 5 modifications requested -

The committee members have brought the information and concerns to faculty in individual colleges/schools, gather and agree on needed amendments on policy UPAA-17.

The main concerns and points of discussion are summarized below:

The policy aims to ensure regulatory compliance with funder rules and encourage faculty to use grant funds for salary or summer salary, fostering further research opportunities. Historically, buying out teaching loads was less common. UPAA-17 covers various types of grants, including NSF, promoting faculty to secure multiple awards, which previously lacked guidelines or incentives. The policy introduces a research incentive account for salary through teaching load buyouts, benefiting both faculty and the institution. Unlike UPAA-20, which grants Deans comprehensive fund allocation, UPAA-17 provides accountability for fund overloads up to 20%, suggesting governance by research-savvy individuals. Release time not bought out is considered an "in-kind" match for research funding.

Marshall University Faculty Senate

2. Quinlan Awards were discussed to investigate the potential for an increase financial support (reference of article and original corpus in 1986). The process of finding this additional support is still ongoing. The Marshall Foundation has been providing information related to the current budget. The committee is working on potentially allowing changes in funding allocations to increase the dollar value of the Quinlan awards. Discussion was continued on April 17, 2025

During the April 17, 2025, the applications for the Summer Research Awards, Quinlan, Research Committee Funding, and Research Scholar Awards. have been reviewed by the committee members. As we did not have a quorum, the vote was delayed and is currently proceeding electronically.

Outline:

April 2025 funding applications

- Quinlan R2- requested $11,633 (24 applications), available $7,061.57
Insufficient funds Discussion and vote ongoing to allow support to all eligible applicants (requesting authorization to use the balance of the Summer Research awards ($24,880))
- Research Committee Funding R2- requested $250.00, (1 application) available $1,500.00 Sufficient funds
- Research Scholars R2 – requested $750.00, available $1,507 Sufficient funds
- Summer Research Awards- requested $44,000.00 (22 applications), available $68,880.00 Sufficient funds

All eligible applicants for the Quinlan award have been approved by the Faculty Research Committee (by electronic vote closing on 4-24-25).

The committee also discuss returning the award cycles to the pre-Covid three-cycle model:

Cycle 1: April 2 – October 1 (Fall) Covers travel from October 2 – February 1
Application due date: October 1
Committee meeting date: October 18

Cycle 2: October 2 – February 1 (Spring) Covers travel from February 2 – April 1

v. Student Conduct & Welfare Committee – Tony Viola (4 minutes)

1. APPROVAL OF MINUTES:

The minutes of the February 10, 2025 meeting were approved.

2. OLD BUSINESS:

A. Michael Borsuk shared SGA updates on: 1) Advocate – reports will soon be amendable, with changes set for next semester; 2) the development of an excused absence and extension policy factoring in weather; and 3) expanded Narcan training on campus.

3. NEW BUSINESS:

A. The committee reviewed the letter from Psychology regarding safety issues on campus but did not draft a recommendation since this has already been discussed in Faculty Senate and is being addressed by the Campus and Community Safety Workgroup. Molly Mersmann suggested that pedestrian crossings automatically switch to a walk signal, rather than requiring the push of a button, as seen on other campuses. Michael Borsuk noted that at the 20th Street crossing by the Rec Center, if a pedestrian fails to push the button and an accident occurs, the pedestrian would be held liable. He volunteered to follow up with Lisa Martin and the safety committee regarding this concern.

B. The committee agreed to postpone the election of new officers until the beginning of Fall 2025.

vi. Faculty Technology Committee – Nitin Puri (4 minutes)
