Change in COURSE CONTENT: YES NO

From This course previously included content related to patient motivation and behavioral change.

To Content related to patient motivation and behavioral change associated with various physical and psychosocial co-morbidities were removed from this course and moved earlier in the curriculum in a previously added course (PT 758). This course will no longer include foundational content related to patient motivation and behavioral change used to promote human movement, function, and overall physical and mental health. The course will now only focus on the more advanced physical therapy evaluation and treatment strategies for selected patient populations and techniques that are often considered niche practice, advanced practice, or sub-specialty practice. These will include women's health, diseases of the genitourinary system, oncology, osteoporosis, organ transplant, ergonomics, work hardening, workplace safety, and dry needling. Removal of this content resulted in a reduction of credit hours from two (2) to one (1).

Rationale Half of the course content is being moved earlier in the Doctor of Physical Therapy curriculum to serve as foundational content for other courses in the curriculum that relate to patient motivation and behavioral change. The content from this course was moved to a new course PT 758 titled Patient Motivation and Behavior Change in Physical Therapy. The new course was added in early fall and has been approved at all levels.

Credit Hours and Content: Change from two (2) credit hours to one (1) credit hour. Content related to patient motivation and behavioral change associated with various physical and psychosocial comorbidities were removed from this course and moved earlier in the curriculum in a previously added course (PT 758). PT 788 will no longer include foundational content related to patient motivation and behavioral change used to promote human movement, function, and overall physical and mental health. The course will now only focus on the more advanced physical therapy evaluation and treatment strategies for selected patient populations and techniques that are often considered niche practice, advanced practice, or sub-specialty practice. These will include women's health, diseases of the genitourinary system, oncology, osteoporosis, organ transplant, ergonomics, work hardening, workplace safety, and dry needling. Removal of this content resulted in a reduction of credit hours from two (2) to one (1). As such the course title and description does not need to be changed.
