Hi Tammy,

Thank you for the suggestion of A or B language. That will make that much clearer. And thanks for catching the six criteria. I will correct that as well!

Yes, we will use provisional and conditional admission in those ways you mentioned.

The exam is not required for accreditation. We are allowed to set what admission criteria we choose to use. With the remaining criteria and the addition of the candidacy review at 12 hours (another proposed change, but not directly affecting admissions), we feel that we can justify the elimination of the exam requirement with no real problem.

Thanks for the clarification. I am glad that this looks workable to you. When David is able to respond, we will have our decision then?

Thanks again.

Ok- that is all doable, just needs to be approved by grad dean (temp basis) tyhen by grad council and changed in published requirements.

If approved, we will alter the program requirements to only be bach gpa (that section needs to say A or B), two letters, and no test requirement at all.

It also still refers to meeting 6 criteria

If an applicant didn't meet gpa, dept could prov admit.

If missing final official degree transcript, could conditionally admit one term only...

This is all what you intend? Will no required exam be ok for your accreditation?

Thanks!

Hi Tammy,

Yes, that is the basic gist of the policy changes in the catalog. We are also going to rolling applications (no deadlines), but that is not in the catalog changes per se. I believe Bob talked with Leslie and perhaps Dawn about this and this was the direction the program would like to go. I apologize for failing to mention that.

Lori,
You all want to, basically, completely drop the GRE requirement for all applicants and reduce references from three to two?
Thanks,
Tammy

Subject: Provisional Admissions changes

Hi David and Tammy,

Per the conversations regarding implementing changes to admissions procedures this summer, I have attached our proposed admissions changes that will be submitted for review and approval at the first possible moment for the fall semester's meetings. If you would be willing to give approval to temporarily use these standards for our current admissions process, it would help us to expedite admission for a few students who are having to wait until later to complete their requirements (like the GRE/MAT). Our program faculty would like to respectfully request permission to use our new policy for the remainder of the summer for all remaining applicants, either pending or newly submitted.

Thank you for your consideration,

Lori
