Intercultural & Student Affairs Vision and Mission

Vision: The Division of Intercultural & Student Affairs aspires to create and sustain transformative experiences for students that include:

- Civic Responsibility: preparing students to become socially responsible individuals who contribute to the betterment of society.
- Inclusive Excellence: active, intentional, and ongoing engagement relating to diversity of culture in students, the co-curriculum, and in communities.

- Integrative Learning: an understanding and a disposition that students build across the curriculum and co-curriculum, from making simple connections among ideas and experiences to synthesizing and transferring learning to new, complex situations within and beyond campus.
- Ethical Leadership: developing personal values and competencies with regard to controversy and civil discourse, especially during times of conflict.

Hours: Monday-Friday 8:00 am - 7:00 pm (full-time staff available 8:00 am - 4:30 pm)

Cost: Please visit the website for fee structure

Information: College H.E.L.P.: The College H.E.L.P. Program is a fee-based service that works with Marshall University students diagnosed with a Specific Learning Disability and/or Attention-Deficit/Hyperactivity Disorder (A.D.H.D.). Students receive instruction and coaching in study skills, time management, and organization from qualified learning specialists and a life coach through our Skills Development and Life Coaching Programs. Graduate assistant tutors and professional tutors provide one-on-one academic tutoring.

Community H.E.L.P.: The Community H.E.L.P. Program is dedicated to working with students from grades K-12 who experience difficulties in school. We specialize in students with Specific Learning Disability and/or Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder. For reading we use the Orton-Gillingham approach. Orton-Gillingham is a structured multisensory phonetic approach to reading that is both time-tested and research-proven.

Medical H.E.L.P.: Medical H.E.L.P. teaches medical students and health care professional students to find academic success through active, engaged study sessions, proactive time management, and strategic test taking skills. We also incorporate mindfulness techniques to improve focus and concentration and to help cope with the increased stress and anxiety of medical and professional schools. 2-week and 4-week virtual classes available.

ACT Prep: The Marshall University H.E.L.P. Program offers test preparation courses for the ACT. Class sessions cover basic test-taking strategies for the areas of reading comprehension, English, mathematics, and science.

Diagnostics: The H.E.L.P. Center offers a full battery of comprehensive psycho-educational testing to help identify a Specific Learning Disability (S.L.D.) and/or attention issues. We can help to determine the nature of the deficits, how they affect learning, and what types of instructional methods might be most effective for the student. The team of experts at the H.E.L.P. Center can identify a S.L.D. and/or attention issues in individuals from 6 years of age to adults.

The Herd Academy

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

College of ARTS AND MEDIA

In 2013, Marshall's College of Fine Arts joined with the W. Page Pitt School of Journalism and Mass Communications to form the College of Arts and Media. Through its rich public programs, CAM offers professional, discipline-based training within a broad learning context in four schools:

- » School of Art & Design
- » School of Music
- » School of Theatre
- » W. Page Pitt School of Journalism and Mass Communications

Together, CAM offers students the chance to perform, exhibit, broadcast, publish and more. Primed to think critically, CAM graduates are prepared to live as global citizens and 21st-century leaders, as what and how the world communicates continues to be transformed. Minors in advertising, art, dance, journalism, music, public relations or theatre make it easy for all Marshall students to become involved with CAM during their studies. In addition, since 1936 the Marshall Artists Series has presented world-class artists and organizations to our students and communities through special events and festivals.

Lewis College of BUSINESS

The Marshall University Lewis College of Business is a proven producer of quality graduates who become world-class business professionals. You'll find our alumni working in a variety of industries across the globe as CEOs, CFOs, managers, accountants, marketers and entrepreneurs. They learned the skills needed to make them adaptable and successful in an ever-changing financial climate. Just ask Brad Smith, former CEO of Intuit and current president of Marshall University; Paula Tompkins, CEO and founder of ChannelNet; Verna Gibson, the first female CEO of a Fortune 500 company (The Limited) or West Virginia Governor Jim Justice.

Marshall's business degrees are accredited by AACSB International—The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business. Fewer than 5 percent of business schools worldwide are AACSB accredited for their business programs. Fewer than 1 percent are AACSB accredited for both business and accounting. We are in this elite 1 percent group! AACSB-accredited schools have the highest-quality faculty along with relevant and challenging curriculum, and provide educational and career opportunities that are not found at other business schools.

College of SCIENCE

A degree in science or mathematics from the College of Science equips students with critical thinking and analytical skills opening the door to a diverse array of exciting careers. The College of Science offers a variety of undergraduate and graduate majors for those passionate about everything from molecular structures and environmental science to the universe, the protection of society, information, and natural resources, or with a penchant for numbers. Undergraduates, including first-year students, collaborate in research alongside graduate students and professors.

For those interested in healthcare, majors in Biology, Chemistry, or Biochemistry have higher admission rates into medical, dental, and other professional healthcare schools. These majors cover key topics such as human physiology, molecular genetics, and neurobiology, crucial for excelling in post-graduate medical studies and exams such as Medical College Admission Test (MCAT). Additionally, these programs offer opportunities for laboratory research, giving students practical experience and a competitive edge in pre-professional applications.

The college boasts several unique opportunities. Our nationally ranked programs in forensics and cyber forensics prepare students to collect, preserve, and examine physical or digital evidence necessary in the investigation of crime. Cyber Forensics and Security students work closely with the Institute for Cyber Security on real projects aimed at protecting our digital information. Forensic Science students apply their skills with real evidence in an accredited DNA laboratory, one of only two such labs found on a college campus. The college offers the opportunity to have a double major in both Natural Resource and Recreation Management and Criminal Justice, a perfect pairing for those wishing to become state or national park rangers or wildlife officers.

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

Joan C. Edwards School of MEDICINE

The Marshall University Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine, established in 1977, provides high-quality medical education and health care services to the people of West Virginia and beyond. The school prides itself on a mission that combines excellence in education, research and patient care. With a focus on primary care and community health, the School of Medicine aims to address the unique health care challenges faced by rural and underserved populations, ensuring that students are well-equipped to meet the needs of diverse communities.

The curriculum at the Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine emphasizes hands-on clinical experiences that prepare students for real-world medical scenarios. Students benefit from state-of-the-art facilities and a range of research opportunities, allowing them to engage in both laboratory studies and clinical trials that contribute to medical knowledge and innovations in health care. These experiences not only enhance learning but also foster a commitment to lifelong learning and professional development.

Additionally, the School of Medicine is deeply integrated into communities throughout the Tri-State region and southern West Virginia, fostering strong partnerships with local hospitals, clinics and health care providers. This community engagement provides students with valuable insights into the social determinants of health and the importance of compassionate, patient-centered care. Graduates of the Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine are known for their clinical competence, ethical standards and dedication to improving health care outcomes. They leave the program as well-rounded physicians ready to positively impact their patients and the health care field.

Physician Assistant PROGRAM

The Accreditation Review Commission on Education for the Physician Assistant (ARC-PA) has granted Accreditation-Provisional status to the Marshall University Physician Assistant Program sponsored by Marshall University. Please see the Accreditation tab for further details.

In response to the national demand for physician assistants (PAs), the Joan C. Edwards School of Medicine has developed a physician assistant program with 28 months of rigorous academic courses and challenging clinical rotations as set forth for Provisional Accreditation, per ARC-PA. Physician assistants are in high demand because they are integrated into all health care disciplines and settings, are cost-effective for the health care industry, and because of the shortage of physicians. As a matter of fact, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, employment of PAs is expected to grow 37 percent between 2016 and 2026.

School of PHARMACY

The Marshall University School of Pharmacy opened its doors in 2012, immediately distinguishing itself as a premier professional education program leading to a doctoral-level pharmacy degree (Pharm.D.).

In 2019, the university dedicated the impressive Stephen J. Kopp Hall, the school of pharmacy's new home. The 49,560-square-foot, three-story building is named after Marshall's 36th President Stephen Kopp, who died suddenly while in office in 2014. One of his hallmark achievements was the opening of the School of Pharmacy.

The School of Pharmacy boasts a dynamic learner-centered, interdisciplinary and team-based approach to education. The school strives to educate compassionate, ethical and competent students to become innovative thinkers, problem solvers and the nation's future pharmacy leaders.

National statistics show West Virginia is one of the top states in the country with an unmet need for pharmacists. And overall, nearly a third of the U.S. population resides in states in which filling vacant pharmacist positions has been characterized as moderately difficult. This outlook, coupled with the desire to grow Marshall's health sciences programs, led the Marshall University Board of Governors to approve the new program in December 2009.

Students at the Marshall University School of Pharmacy have chosen the program because of the clear advantages. Exposure to real-world challenges, emerging health care technologies, and healthcare delivery systems prepare students for life after graduation. Paired with active learning environments and international experiential education opportunities, the Marshall University School of Pharmacy creates a dynamic and robust doctoral program for students.

Quick Facts

- » Up to 80 students are accepted annually into the program
- » One of first exclusively flipped classroom schools of pharmacy in the nation
- » Huntington named Best City for Pharmacists in America

ACADEMIC PROGRAMS

UNIVERSITY COLLEGE

University College is Marshall University's home for undecided students, conditionally admitted students, some pre-nursing students, dual enrollment high school students, special admissions, transient students, and international transient students. The advising staff in University College is dedicated to helping these students build a solid academic foundation for progression into their degree programs and persistence toward graduation. In addition, University College houses the Bachelor of Applied Science (BAS) degree program in Integrated Studies specifically designed for students who have completed an Associate of Applied Science (AAS) degree from a regionally accredited institution of higher education. Advisors in University College will work alongside students in the BAS program to help them identify a field of study and within that field of study help them select two or more professional development pathways (e.g., minors, areas of emphasis, concentrations, or certificates) and experiential placements designed to build their knowledge and skills aligning them on the path toward their career goals.

HONORS COLLEGE

The Honors College at Marshall University challenges students to experiment and vigorously develop their academic and personal potential. We also emphatically support them as they pursue their major and chosen career. The college's presence at Marshall signifies the university's commitment to recruiting outstanding students, setting high educational standards, and expecting exceptional outcomes. We offer talented and aspirational students a vibrant scholarly community with a shared mission of using our knowledge and experience to address real-world problems.

Honors education at the collegiate level provides students with an enriched, integrative learning experience at the crossroads of academic disciplines where collaboration across the institution is facilitated. Honors education in college doesn't mean more work for students; it's a different kind of effort that is both broader and deeper in inquiry and impact. At Marshall, honors education provides unique experiences and desirable skills that add value to a student's undergraduate degree.

For their ongoing contributions to honors education and maintaining good standing as members of the college, students in the Honors College are provided with many distinct benefits, including:

- » Merit-based scholarships ($1M offered in the past academic year)
 - » Resume-building experiential learning for academic credit, including a TEDxMarshallU internship
 - » Honors House living in the First Year Residence and Willis halls
 - » Priority early registration privileges
 - » Opportunities for study abroad and conference travel support
 - » Smaller class sizes for HON and H-designated courses
 - » Interesting interdisciplinary, upper-level Honors seminars
 - » Membership in the Honors College Student Association (HCSA)
 - » Extended library borrowing
 - » Free printing, flexible workspaces, and study lounge
- Graduating with University Honors through the Honors College, which is recognized on a student's transcript, at the Elizabeth Gibson Drinko Honors Convocation, and with awarded Honors Medallion worn at graduation

Incoming first-year students admitted to Marshall University have two pathways to admission to the Honors College. Most students will join through "Admission by Invitation" based on prescribed thresholds in standardized test scores and high school GPA. Those students who have excelled in high school and are highly motivated to participate in the mission of Honors education at Marshall University, but do not have the necessary standardized test score, should explore "Admission by Holistic Review" as a pathway to join the Honors College, which requires requesting an application for admission to the college.

Current students admitted to Marshall to begin their degree requirements in the Fall semester who are not classified as transfer students and who have not yet earned a GPA at Marshall but have at least a 3.5 high school GPA and at least a 26 ACT or 1230 SAT composite score, can request to be considered for a late "Admission by Invitation," which does not require an application. Current students continuing from a previous semester, as well as qualified transfer students, with a 3.5 college GPA or greater in at least 12 completed credit hours who will have no more than 30 earned credit hours at the end of the semester of application, may petition for admission by requesting Holistic Review from the college. See www.marshall.edu/honors and inquire to honorscollege@marshall.edu.

SOCIETY OF YEAGER SCHOLARS

The Society of Yeager Scholars and the Yeager Scholars Program are named for United States Air Force Brigadier General Charles E. “Chuck” Yeager, a West Virginia native and the first person to break the sound barrier in his historic 1947 flight of the Bell-X-1 aircraft. Students in the program, known as Yeager Scholars in recognition of their barrier-breaking commitment to academic excellence, are provided a greatly enhanced educational experience at Marshall with opportunities to expand their intellectual abilities, develop their leadership potential, become effective communicators, and gain the skills and knowledge necessary to create successful careers. Yeager Scholars receive tuition, fees, room and board, a textbook allowance, a laptop, a stipend, and education-related study abroad expenses. The Yeager Scholar Program is housed within the Honors College, and Yeager Scholars are members of the college with distinct curricular and co-curricular requirements. The program is administered by the Director of the Society of Yeager Scholars, the Dean of the Honors College, and a Board of Directors. Each cohort of scholars must follow the policies and expectations outlined in their handbook, updated annually. For additional information, see www.marshall.edu/yeager.

OFFICE OF NATIONAL SCHOLARSHIPS

In recognition of the aspirational nature of striving for recognition and reward for outstanding work, the Office of National Scholarship is housed in the Honors College and will work with all students at the University to identify and apply for appropriate scholarships based on such factors as major, core interests, leadership, community engagement, and interest in study abroad. These scholarships include the prestigious Fulbright, Gates Cambridge, Critical Language, and Truman. The services offered are available to all students at Marshall University. For additional information, see www.marshall.edu/nationalscholarships.

WHERE TO EAT

Marshall Dining offers an all-encompassing atmosphere in student dining. Whether you eat meat, prefer vegetarian, have allergies, stay up late, or wake up early; Marshall Dining wants you to feel like a part of the team.

HARLESS DINING HALL

Featuring an ever changing menu, Harless embodies an all-you-care-to-eat environment to satisfy everyone's taste including a Vegetarian option at every station. Watch your food being made at Flaming Skillet or grab a hand-made sub from the Deli station. Our Pizza station offers a new special everyday while the Grill alternates from classic cheeseburgers to special LTOs. Simple Servings avoids the seven main food allergies creating a safe, allergen-free meal without sacrificing taste!

MEMORIAL STUDENT CENTER FOOD COURT

Whether it is between classes or time to study, the MSC Food Court is a perfect place to grab a quick bite to eat. Steak 'n Shake & Chick-fil-A are popular choices for those seeking a quick meal. Local restaurant La Famiglia offers a great selection of pizza and pasta straight from Italy. Don't forget to try our Award Winning Chicken & Dumplings at the Huntington Market, our home for home-cooked meals.

TOWERS MARKETPLACE

The Towers Marketplace is our Late Night venue featuring The Den by Denny's & 1837 Fresh Food Market. The Den offers a variety of choices from breakfast to dinner, all available until midnight as well as 1837 Fresh Food Market with groceries, a deli, and hot food options. Mein Bowl is the #1 choice for Asian Cuisine on campus and also serves their fresh made sushi at all three of our Simply-to-Go locations.

SIMPLY-TO-GO

Simply-to-Go is our no nonsense, pre-packaged brand of meals that are ready to eat at any time. With locations at Smith Hall, Towers Marketplace, and MSC Food Court, we provide a variety of salads, sandwiches, & more so you can grab something to eat from anywhere on campus.

JOHN MARSHALL ROOM

Located on the second floor of the Memorial Student Center, the John Marshall Room (JMR) offers unlimited soup and salads alongside a tasteful selection of hot entrees. Enjoy a full dining experience with china, linen and service with a smile!

STARBUCKS®

Located in the Memorial Student Center (MSC), this full-service coffee shop offers everyone's favorite hot & cold drinks alongside a great selection of sandwiches and pastries to enhance the experience.

DRINKO COFFEE SHOP

The first floor of Drinko Library hosts our "We Proudly Serve" location of Starbucks. Grab a nice pick-me-up before studying at the library or on the way to class.

SMITH HALL CAFE

Smith Hall Café is a popular stop for a quick meal. An ideal place to grab a bite between classes, Simply To Go features sandwiches, salads, hot dogs, soups, pastries and chips, as well as Starbucks® coffee and bottled beverages. Be sure to check out the all new SALLYBOT, Marshall Dining's custom salad making robot!

TRANSACT MOBILE

Our own mobile ordering app is "Transact Mobile Ordering". It maintains the ability to order ahead and customize your orders like similar apps, but with the added ease of using your Marshall ID. No sign-up necessary as your Marshall account will allow you to start ordering immediately. We even added Dining Dollars as a payment option!

STUDENTS MEAL PLANS

MEAL PLANS

Buying a meal plan is a big decision when deciding on college financial investments. Couldn't I just eat elsewhere? Is it worth the money? What if I don't like the food? These are some of the questions that may arise while trying to decide. We at Marshall Dining want to make your college experience better and the best way we know how to do that is with our food. Investing in a meal plan guarantees that you will be able to eat twice every weekday (using the 10 Meals per Week) or twice everyday (using the 14 Meals per Week) without having to fret over the price of your meal. In fact, when using any meal plan the customer saves up to $2 with every swipe at Harless Dining Hall. Some meal plans also include "Bonus Meals" which may be used at any time through the semester as an extra meal that day or to feed a family member or guest. With the variety offered at Harless, it will be hard to find something you don't like, but Dining Dollars is packaged with every meal plan to ensure you can still find a meal that suits your tastes.

Dining Dollars is the campus-only currency that can be used for food or beverage items at Marshall University, including Harless Dining Hall. Dining Dollars is tax free and is a great choice when weekly meals run out, to fill in that one meal a day not included with the meal plan, or to pick up a snack or beverage throughout the day. All of the retail options on campus are great choices when using Dining Dollars, but the 1837 Fresh Food Market will allow you to buy preservatives, snacks, and other food items to keep in your dorm. Dining Dollars will carry over from Fall to Spring semester, but will disappear at the end of the Spring semester.

MEAL PLANS

- » 10 Meals + $500 Dining Dollars with 10 bonus meals
- » 10 Meals + $700 Dining Dollars with 20 bonus meals

Marshall Emergency NOTIFICATION SYSTEM

In an emergency, the university uses multiple systems to quickly alert community members of a threat and the steps to take to stay safe.

In qualifying health and/or safety emergencies, the Marshall University Police Department will issue what's known as an MU Alert to notify registered users in case of an imminent threat. Messages for MU Alerts are available across multiple platforms, including e-mail, text messages and voice calls. The university highly recommends that anyone within the campus community opt in to receive MU Alerts.

i Students can sign up for MU Alerts at www.marshall.edu/mymu.

CLERY ACT TIMELY WARNINGS

To provide timely notice to the university community in the event of a crime that may pose a serious or ongoing threat, the Marshall University Police Department (MUPD) may issue an MU Alert generally for the following crimes: arson, aggravated assault, criminal homicide, robbery, burglary, rape and hate crimes. Timely warnings also may be issued for other Clery Act crimes as deemed necessary. The purpose of a timely warning is to notify the university community of the incident and to provide information that may enable community members to better protect themselves from similar incidents.

MUPD will issue a timely warning whenever the following criteria are met: (1) a Clery Act crime is reported; (2) the crime occurred in a Clery reportable location; (3) the perpetrator has not been apprehended; and (4) there is a serious or ongoing threat to the campus community because of this crime.

In certain circumstances, an incident may not meet the criteria of a Clery Act crime, but may constitute a serious or ongoing threat to the university community. When a timely warning is not required by law, the Chief of Police and/or senior leadership (or designee) may choose to issue an MU Alert notifying the campus community of the threat. The content of a community alert may vary depending on the type of incident reported and the location where it occurred.

i More information about the Clery Report can be found here:
www.marshall.edu/disclosures/securityreport

POLICIES OF NOTE

TITLE IX

Applies to schools that receive federal financial assistance, and Marshall University is such a recipient institution. Marshall University must operate its education programs and activities in a nondiscriminatory manner free of discrimination based on sex, including sexual orientation and gender identity. Some key issue areas in which Marshall University has Title IX obligations are: recruitment, admissions, and counseling; financial assistance; athletics; sex-based harassment, which encompasses sexual assault and other forms of sexual violence; treatment of pregnant and parenting students; treatment of LGBTQIA+ students; discipline; single-sex education; and employment.

CONFIDENTIALITY AND POLICY

Certain resources have legally protected confidentiality and only share information with others when given specific permission by the survivor/victim or when required by law. Marshall University's Title IX Office does not have the same legally protected confidentiality, but protects the privacy of individuals who have been impacted by sexual misconduct. They share information as needed to respond to the requests of those who have been harmed, and to assess community safety or to comply with legal requirements.

FILE A FORMAL COMPLAINT

You have the right to make a formal complaint to Marshall University and/or to submit a report to the police. Go to www.marshall.edu/titleix for more information about making a report and available academic, workplace, and other support measures.

FEDERAL AND STATE LAWS AND REGULATIONS

Laws and regulations, including Title IX, which was established in 1972, prohibit sex discrimination. Marshall University policies incorporate these legal mandates and apply to every member of Marshall University community: students, staff, faculty, other academic personnel, visitors, and others.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY POLICIES

Marshall University policies prohibit sex and gender-based discrimination, including sexual or gender-based harassment, sexual assault, intimate partner violence, stalking and other forms of sexual misconduct. See relevant policies at www.marshall.edu/titleix.

RESOURCES AND SUPPORT

If you have experienced any form of sex discrimination, support resources are available throughout the Title IX process.

SAFETY AT MARSHALL

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY POLICE DEPARTMENT

By virtue of West Virginia law, MUPD officers have the same responsibilities and authority as that of any other law enforcement officer in the state.

A police dispatcher can be directly contacted 24-hours a day by dialing 304-696-4357 (HELP) or by using one of the HELP phones located throughout campus. Uniformed MUPD officers provide 24-hour patrol protection to the campus, adjacent university-owned facilities and parking areas. They patrol by vehicle and bicycle, which allows officers to easily penetrate crowds and navigate confined spaces.

Effective law enforcement and protection requires citizen cooperation and assistance. The rapid and successful detection of crime and the apprehension of criminals depend heavily on the speedy reporting and dissemination of facts to University Police. We all share the responsibility for making Marshall University the safest possible place in which to learn.

Contact the Marshall University Police Department at (304) 696-4357 (HELP)

SAFETY REMINDERS

Summoning Help

- » Call 911 or MUPD at (304) 696-HELP from any phone, including your cell phone.
- » If you're on campus, you can just push a button on a HELP telephone, the blue-light green poles or wall-mounted units on and around campus. You will be automatically connected to MUPD.
- » The Office of Environmental Safety and Health and the Marshall University Safety Committee seek input from faculty, staff, students, and the community to identify safety hazards, unsafe conditions, or unsafe work practices. If you'd like to report an incident, please contact 304-696-2993 or visit www.marshall.edu/safety.

Personal Safety

- » Always be aware of your surroundings.
- » Avoid isolated areas.
- » Avoid walking alone at night. Use public transportation, walk with friends or contact MUPD for an escort.
- » Do not hesitate to contact police about a person or situation that does not seem right. You will not have to give your full name to police. Even if everything is fine, MUPD officers do not in any way consider this "bothering" them.

Residence Hall Safety

- » Remember: Your RA, RD and other staff are resources for safety concerns.
- » Call MUPD if you see someone in the building who seems suspicious.
- » Never prop open doors or leave room doors open.
- » Secure doors and windows prior to leaving.
- » Never be alone with anyone who is not a roommate or a trusted friend.

Home/Apartment Safety

- » Keep doors and windows locked.
- » Use outdoor lighting.
- » If you see any of the following, immediately call 911: a prowler; someone peeping into a residence; an individual who seems out of place and is watching, photographing or filming an area; or any other behavior that under the circumstances seems odd or suspicious.
- » Work with your neighbors and fellow community members to ensure a safe environment.

Pedestrian and Biking Safety

- » Use caution when crossing the street, especially in the dark. Cross only in designated areas and do not let music or a cell phone conversation distract you.
- » Be sure to push the buttons at crosswalks that instruct you when to cross.
- » Likewise, always use caution when bicycling. Wear a helmet and reflective clothing, and follow all rules of the road, whether you are a biker or motorist.
- » Register your bike with MUPD.

Active Bystander

- » If you feel uneasy about a situation, trust your instincts and attempt to interrupt the chain of events.
- » Create a distraction and involve others.
- » Make a commitment to ensure everyone has a safe way home
- » Remember: Being an active bystander doesn't require you to put yourself at risk.

FERPA: RELEASE OF INFORMATION (PROXY)

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) ensures that students have certain rights regarding their educational records. Under FERPA, the university may not disclose student records (except to Marshall officials who have legitimate educational interest) without the student's written consent. For more details about FERPA and the steps to complete proxy, please refer to www.marshall.edu/student-affairs/ferpa/

If you have questions about FERPA and the Proxy process, contact Kat Smith at file1@marshall.edu.

FERPA

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) affords students certain rights with respect to their education records. Students possess the right to grant individuals access to certain records and the steps for the proxy process can be found here, www.marshall.edu/student-affairs/ferpa-students/. In addition, these rights include:

- (1) The right to inspect and review the student's education records within 45 days of the day the University receives a request for access.
- (2) The right to request the amendment of the student's education records that the student believes are inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the student's privacy rights under FERPA.
- (3) The right to provide written consent before the University discloses personally identifiable information from the student's education records, except to the extent that FERPA authorizes disclosure without consent.
- (4) The right to file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Education concerning alleged failures by the University to comply with the requirements of FERPA.

DIRECTORY INFORMATION

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy states that an educational institution may release without written consent those records identified as public or directory information for students who are currently enrolled provided that the institution informs the students of the categories defined as directory information and students are given an opportunity to refuse disclosure of any or all of the defined categories.

Marshall University defines directory information as follows: name, address, email addresses, telephone numbers (permanent and campus), photograph, date and place of birth, major field of study, dates of attendance, degree and honors and awards received and classification.

Requests to suppress disclosure of directory information can be sent to the Registrar's office.

To learn more about FERPA and the sharing of directory information, please go to this site.
www.marshall.edu/disclosures/ferpa

STUDENT RIGHTS and RESPONSIBILITIES

The Division of Intercultural and Student Affairs and the Office of Student Conduct, supports the mission of Marshall University by objectively and efficiently administering our Student Code of Conduct, promoting academic integrity, balancing individual and community interests in order to encourage student accountability, and connecting students to resources that foster student success.

The Director of Student Conduct (Director) or his/her designee is responsible for administering the Code of Conduct. The director's responsibilities are set forth in this procedure and include, but are not limited to reviewing complaints, issuing charges, making determinations on the responsibility of accused students, imposing sanctions, selecting and training student advisors, presenting complaints to the Student Hearing Board and any other responsibilities related to the Rights and Responsibilities as determined by the Vice President of Student Affairs and/or the President that may not be specifically set forth in these procedures.

The Rights and Responsibilities reflects the university community's expectations and standards established for each of its members. The code and the student conduct system are founded on principles of fairness and due process, and a commitment to the educational development of students, and are designed to balance the interests of the university community as a whole with the protection of students' individual liberties.

Disciplinary action on campus deals administratively and developmentally with prohibited or unacceptable student behavior in the university community. Any individual may refer any student or organization to the Office of Student Conduct. Official university action will be taken when a student's or student group's behavior violates community standards, and interferes either with the university's educational purpose or with its duty to protect and preserve individual health, welfare and property. When the behavior is aggravated or presents a continuing danger to the university community, accused students are subject to separation from the institution.

Our disciplinary system is substantially less formal than a court of law. The objective of a system of student discipline is to promote responsible citizenship in a complex organizational or social setting while affording due process to the accused.

JURISDICTION CONDUCT

These provisions govern student conduct on campus or related to university property, or at official university functions and university-sponsored programs conducted away from the campus. Each student shall be responsible for his/her conduct from the time of application for admission through the actual awarding of a degree. Conduct that occurs before classes begin or after classes end, as well as during the academic year and during periods between terms of actual enrollment (and even if such conduct is not discovered until after a degree is awarded), is subject to the Rights and Responsibilities. The code shall apply to a student's conduct even if the student withdraws from school or a particular course while a disciplinary matter is pending.

OFF-CAMPUS CONDUCT

The Director of Student Conduct is responsible for deciding whether the Rights and Responsibilities shall be applied to conduct occurring off campus, on a case-by-case basis, at his/her sole discretion.

Student conduct that occurs off university property is subject to the code where it: a) adversely affects the health, safety or security of any other member of the university community, or the mission of the university; or b) involves academic work or any records or documents of the university. In determining whether or not to exercise jurisdiction over such conduct, the Office of Student Conduct will consider the seriousness of the alleged offense, the risk of harm involved, whether the victim(s) are members of the campus community and/or whether the off-campus conduct is part of a series of actions that occurred both on and off university property.

CRIMINAL CONDUCT

Alleged violations of the Rights and Responsibilities may also constitute violations of municipal, county, state or federal law. Any individual may report an incident alleging criminal conduct by calling 911 in an emergency, by contacting the Marshall University Department of Public Safety at (304) 696-HELP or by contacting any other local law enforcement agency.

The administrative investigation of complaints filed in accordance with these procedures is different from a law enforcement investigation. The technical rules of evidence and procedure do not apply. A law enforcement investigation will not take the place of an investigation, adjudication or disposition of a complaint filed in accordance with these procedures, and the results of a law enforcement investigation, adjudication or disposition are not determinative of whether an individual is responsible for violating university rules, regulations, policies or the Rights and Responsibilities. The administration of complaints filed in accordance with these procedures may be carried out prior to, simultaneously with or following civil or criminal investigations and/or proceedings. The university will cooperate fully with law enforcement and other agencies in the enforcement of criminal law on campus or in matters that affect the campus community, and such cooperation may require the institution to temporarily suspend the fact-finding aspect of the administrative investigation or any of these proceedings while the law enforcement agency is in the process of gathering information. Suspensions of investigations typically last from three to 10 days, but may be extended depending upon the circumstances of each case. The university will promptly resume its administrative investigation/proceedings as soon as notified by the law enforcement agency that it has completed the evidence-gathering process.

TITLE IX/SEXUAL MISCONDUCT

Please note that the disciplinary procedures regarding allegations related to sexual misconduct as defined in the Discrimination, Harassment, Sexual Harassment, Sexual & Domestic Misconduct, Stalking and Retaliation Policy (BOG GA-1) are located in Appendix B of the Administrative Procedure that can be found at www.marshall.edu/board/board-of-governors-policies. Further, those procedures supersede these Student Disciplinary Procedures and, to the extent those procedures are differing, they take precedence in those cases related to sexual misconduct.

RESIDENCE HALL VIOLATIONS

Disciplinary procedures for violations of the Residence Hall Contract or Residence Hall Guide are located in Appendix C of the Administrative Procedure that can be found at www.marshall.edu/board/board-of-governors-policies. Provided that, residence hall incidents that involve suspected use or possession of drugs or alcohol, or any actions that could, under the Rights and Responsibilities, result in suspension or expulsion, will be referred to the Office of Student Conduct for investigation and adjudication and sanctioning, if applicable, under the procedures set forth herein.

PROGRAM-SPECIFIC CONDUCT CODES

The Rights and Responsibilities shall apply to all students enrolled in undergraduate or graduate programs. Academic and professional standards of conduct will also apply to students enrolled in programs that have adopted such standards. All students are subject to the Rights and Responsibilities, and some students may be concurrently subject to additional standards and sanctions as determined by their respective academic programs. The administration of complaints filed in accordance with these procedures may be carried out prior to, simultaneously with or following program specific academic and professional standards of conduct investigations and/or proceedings. Sanctions imposed under the Rights and Responsibilities may be in addition to sanctions imposed in accordance with program-specific academic and professional standards of conduct. For example and without limiting the general language herein, a student found responsible for violating the Rights and Responsibilities may receive disciplinary probation as a sanction in accordance with this procedure but may also be dismissed from a program for the same conduct in accordance with program-specific procedures and conduct codes.

For more information about or the most recent version of the Student Rights and Responsibilities or Student Code of Conduct, visit www.marshall.edu/studentconduct.

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY & EXCUSED ABSENCE POLICY

ACADEMIC DISHONESTY

As described in the Marshall University Creed, Marshall University is an "Ethical Community reflecting honesty, integrity and fairness in both academic and extracurricular activities."

Academic dishonesty is fundamentally opposed to the goal of "assuring the integrity of the curriculum through the maintenance of rigorous standards and high expectations for student learning and performance," as described in Marshall University's Statement of Philosophy. As such, acts of academic dishonesty will not be tolerated.

A student, by voluntarily accepting admission to the institution or enrolling in a class or course of study offered by Marshall University accepts the academic requirements and criteria of the institution. It is the student's responsibility to be aware of policies regulating academic conduct, including the definitions of academic dishonesty, the possible sanctions and the appeal process. For the purposes of this policy, an academic exercise is defined as any assignment, whether graded or ungraded, that is given in an academic course or must be completed toward the completion of degree or certification requirements. This includes, but is not limited to: Exams, quizzes, papers, oral presentations, data gathering and analysis, practica and creative work of any kind.

Definitions of Academic Dishonesty

Below are definitions of some common types of academic dishonesty. Each instructor may modify the general definition of academic dishonesty to fit the immediate academic needs within that particular course of study, provided the instructor defines, in writing and preferably in the course syllabus, the details of any departure from the general definition.

Cheating: Any action which if known to the instructor in the course of study would be prohibited. This includes:

- The unauthorized use of any materials, notes, sources of information, study aids or tools during an academic exercise.

- The unauthorized assistance of a person other than the course instructor during an academic exercise.
- The unauthorized viewing of another person's work during an academic exercise.
- The unauthorized securing of all or any part of assignments or examinations, in advance of submission by the instructor.

Fabrication/Falsification: The unauthorized invention or alteration of any information, citation, data or means of verification in an academic exercise, official correspondence or a university record.

Plagiarism: Submitting as one's own work or creation any material or an idea wholly or in part created by another. This includes:

- Oral, written and graphical material.
- Both published and unpublished work.
- It is the student's responsibility to clearly distinguish his/her own work from that created by others. This includes the proper use of quotation marks, paraphrasing and the citation of the original source. Students are responsible for both intentional and unintentional acts of plagiarism.

Bribes/Favors/Threats: Attempting to unfairly influence a course grade or the satisfaction of degree requirements through any of these actions is prohibited.

Complicity: Helping or attempting to help someone commit an act of academic dishonesty.

EXCUSED ABSENCE

Students are expected to attend punctually all class meetings, laboratory sessions, and field experiences and to participate in all class assignments and activities as described in the Course Syllabus. Absences are counted from the first class meeting after the student registers. Students registering late are expected to make up all missed assignments in a manner determined by the instructor. Students should be aware that excessive absences, whether excused or unexcused, may affect their ability to earn a passing grade. The instructor of each class shall establish a policy on class attendance and make-up work, and provide the policy to students in the Course Syllabus. This policy must not conflict with university policies, including this policy. Class attendance may be a criterion in determining a student's final grade in the course if the instructor provides a statement to this effect in the course syllabus. Students must promptly consult with their instructors about all class absences. Instructors will work with students to identify appropriate documentation and discuss any missed class time, tests, or assignments. Except in the case of University Excused Absences, it is the decision of the instructor to excuse an absence or to allow for additional time to make up missed tests or assignments. A student may not be penalized for an excused absence, provided that the student, in a manner determined by the instructor, makes up the work that has been missed. Instructors are required to honor valid University Excused Absences and to provide reasonable and equitable means for students to make up work missed as a result of those absences. Academic obligations that cannot be made up should be addressed by the course instructor in consultation with the student to ensure that continued enrollment is feasible while there is still an opportunity to drop the course within the established withdrawal period. For more information about what constitutes a University Excused Absence and how to complete a form go to:

marshall-advocate.symplicity.com/collections/student_advocacy_and_support Graduate Students visit www.marshall.edu/catalog for the policy on absences in graduate school.

MEDICAL/EMERGENCY WITHDRAWAL POLICY

A student may request and be considered for a medical or emergency withdrawal when extraordinary circumstances, such as a serious illness, injury, or catastrophic situation prevents the student from continuing classes. The policy covers physical and mental health, as well as life-changing difficulties.

A medical/emergency withdrawal from the university will constitute a full withdrawal from all academic classes for the requested semester, with the exception of those classes whose completion dates occurred prior to the withdrawal. Refund of tuition and fees will be a separate determination, as will eligibility for future financial aid. These decisions will follow policies, guidelines and schedules set forth by the university and state and federal government.

If a student is currently enrolled, consideration should be given to withdrawing from those courses through the regular process prior to requesting a medical/emergency withdrawal.

A request for a medical/emergency withdrawal must be filed within six months of the end of the semester involved unless the student can provide rationale and documentation to show that it was not possible to make the request within this timeframe. Students may apply for a medical/emergency withdrawal by following the guidelines provided below. Application for a medical/emergency withdrawal does not guarantee that a withdrawal will be granted. All requests are evaluated on an individual basis.

Please go to www.marshall.edu/student-affairs/emergency-withdrawal for more information about the requirements and other pertinent information.

REPORTING TOOLS

IN AN EMERGENCY

Reporting an emergency, or a situation you feel isn't right, is the first step to getting help. It is very important that you know the steps to report an emergency, so if you ever have to report one, you will know how to do it. Here are some steps to know: Assess the situation, call emergency services, report your precise location, give the dispatcher your name and phone number, describe the nature of your emergency in great detail and, most importantly, follow the dispatcher's instructions. Call 911 or contact the Marshall University Police Department at (304) 696-4357 (HELP).

SUBMIT A TIP

If you witness a crime on campus, or just want to give MUPD a heads up, submit a tip. We understand that sometimes you may want to remain anonymous, but the more information you can provide will help us follow up on your tip. Submit a tip: www.marshall.edu/mupd/tip.

SAFETY TRAINING

R.A.D. SELF-DEFENSE TRAINING

MUPD officers lead classes in self-defense for students. R.A.D. (Rape Aggression Defense) instruction is designed for female students and covers escape, physical attack, personal awareness, risk avoidance, community assistance and procedures for prosecution. Self-defense training is also available for male students. See www.marshall.edu/mupd/rad-systems.

THE BYSTANDER INTERVENTION PROGRAM

Grounded in research and aimed at measurably and systematically reducing power-based interpersonal violence (sexual assault, dating violence, and stalking), Bystander Intervention Training creates a cultural shift within a community where a critical mass of individuals needs to engage in a new behavior that makes violence less sustainable. Students are invited to attend a Bystander Intervention Training to learn how to become a positive bystander. For more information or to request a Bystander Intervention Training, visit here: www.marshall.edu/violence-prevention/resources-and-information/bystander-intervention.

SAFETY RESOURCES

EMERGENCY PHONES

More than 30 emergency phones are located throughout campus where students live and congregate. These phones include the blue–light green phones and wall-mounted units that are located along frequently traveled pathways and in parking lots, garages and some buildings.

To use the phone, simply push the button or pick up the phone (depending on the model) to immediately be connected with an MUPD dispatcher. If for any reason you cannot remain at the phone, you should push the buttons on the phones that you pass; police will respond to that area. See www.marshall.edu/mupd/community.

RELATED SAFETY AND HEALTH RESOURCES

STUDENT COUNSELING CENTER

The Counseling Center staff is made up of licensed and license-eligible mental health specialists trained to provide all of your student counseling needs. Counseling services are free of charge for Marshall University students. In the event of an emergency, an MU Counseling Center staff member is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week and can be reached by calling 304-696-3111 during regular office hours or the MU Police Department at 304-696-4357 outside of office hours. See www.marshall.edu/counseling.

ADVOCACY AND SUPPORT FOR SEXUAL AND INTERPERSONAL VIOLENCE

Marshall University takes gender-based violence seriously and provides support and information to survivors, families of survivors, and the university community. The Violence Prevention Office along with the Women's and Gender Center assists students in filing a Title IX report or an incident report with Student Conduct, refer them to on-campus and off-campus resources, works closely with the Marshall University Police Department to secure protective orders, and serves as an advocate for survivors. See www.marshall.edu/violence-prevention or www.marshall.edu/wcenter.

SUBSTANCE USE PREVENTION

The Wellness Center uses a multi-dimensional approach to address alcohol and other drug misuse. Wellness programs assist students in developing healthy habits for life through in-person and online courses and individualized consultations. This approach ensures that students obtain accurate information about alcohol and drug use/misuse, helps them recognize unhealthy strategies and develops self-determined healthier ones. Collegiate Recovery Community programs dedicated to creating supportive collegiate experiences for those in recovery and diminishing the recovery-associated stigmas help make Marshall University a more inclusive and welcoming place. HISTORY AND TRADITIONS

THE BEGINNING

Marshall University traces its origin to 1837, when residents of the community of Guyandotte, then part of Virginia, and the farming region nearby turned their attention to providing better educational facilities for their sons and daughters.

According to tradition, they met at the home of local lawyer John Laidley, planned their school and named it Marshall Academy in honor of a friend of Laidley, the late Chief Justice of the United States John Marshall. They chose Maple Grove as the site for their school. Old Main, the administration building at Marshall University, is still operational on what used to be known as Maple Grove.

In its early years, Marshall College, renamed as such in 1867, was a normal school to train teachers. Finally, in the late 1960s, Marshall University was born, and the rest is history.

JOHN MARSHALL

Marshall University is named after John Marshall, the Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court (1801–35). Often known as the “Definer is the United States Constitution,” the Supreme Court became a third and equal branch of our government.

WE ARE MARSHALL

On November 14, 1970, Marshall University and the community of Huntington experienced the greatest air tragedy in college sports history. On that day, 75 people—players, coaches, university staff, community members and the flight crew—perished. The team was returning home from a game against East Carolina University when their charter flight crashed into a hill near the Huntington Tri-State Airport.

In 2006, Warner Bros. and Thunder Road Pictures produced a feature film titled We Are Marshall about the crash and the school’s struggle to create a new football team. The film itself has become part of the Marshall story—and an American story of tragedy, hope and endurance.

MEMORIAL FOUNTAIN

Each year on the anniversary of the plane crash, the Student Government Association conducts a service of remembrance at the Memorial Fountain. In recognition of those who lost their lives, a wreath is laid and the water to the fountain is turned off until the next spring. The service is a reminder of those we lost and of the strength and resilience of the Marshall family. The Memorial Fountain was erected in 1972 on the Memorial Student Center Plaza. At more than 13 feet high and 6,500 pounds, it was created by Harry Bertoia, an Italian-born artist and resident of Pennsylvania. It was his hope that the fountain would commemorate the living and endure as a symbol to “express upward growth, immortality and eternity.”

The Marshall Alma Mater

Marshall, gracious Alma Mater,
We thy name revere;
May each noble son and daughter
Cherish thine honor dear.
May thy lamp be ever bright
Guiding us to truth and light;
As a beacon o’er dark water
This is for thee our prayer.

May the years be kind to Marshall;
May she grow in fame;
May her children fail her never
True to her beacon flame.
May her spirit brave and strong
Honor right and conquer wrong;
This the burden of our song
Ever her truth proclaim.

— Dr. C.E. Haworth and James R. Haworth, 1906

The Marshall University Creed

Inspired by the example of John Marshall, we, the students, faculty, and staff of Marshall University, pledge to pursue the development of our intellects and the expansion of knowledge, and to devote ourselves to defending individual rights and exercising civic responsibility. We strive to exemplify in our own lives the core values of John Marshall’s character: independence, initiative, achievement, ethical integrity, and commitment to community through association and service. As Marshall University, we form a community that promotes educational goals and that allows individuals maximum opportunity to pursue those goals.

We are:

An Educational Community in which all members work together to promote and strengthen teaching and learning;

An Open Community uncompromisingly protecting freedom of thought, belief and expression;

A Civil Community treating all individuals and groups with consideration, decency, and respect, and expressing disagreements in rational ways;

A Responsible Community accepting obligations and following behavioral guidelines designed to support the common good;

A Safe Community respecting each other’s rights, privacy and property;

A Well Community respecting and promoting physical and emotional health;

An Ethical Community reflecting honesty, integrity and fairness in both academic and extracurricular activities;

A Pluralistic Community celebrating and learning from our diversity;

A Socially Conscious Community acting as citizens of the world and seeking to contribute to the betterment of people and their environments; and

A Judicious Community remaining alert to the threats posed by hatred, intolerance and other injustices and ever-prepared to correct them.

DIVERSITY & INCLUSION

INTERCULTURAL CENTER

The Office of Intercultural Affairs includes the Center for African American Students, the World Council and the LGBTQ+ office. Its mission is to create an environment providing the progressive learning experiences necessary to assist our students in the acquisition of skills, knowledge and practices to successfully live, work and contribute to the well-being of others in a global society.

WOMEN'S & GENDER CENTER

The Women's & Gender Center builds community and celebrates intersectional identities through educational programming, leadership development, resource connections, and advocacy support for issues related to gender, feminism, and social justice. The Women's & Gender Center, located in Old Main 115, provides a centralized location where gender-related concerns can be voiced, addressed directly, or referred to university or community supports. The space can be used to facilitate meetings, study, programs, and discussion. All genders are welcome.

i Visit www.marshall.edu/wcenter for more information.

MILITARY AND VETERANS AFFAIRS

Marshall University recognizes the service and sacrifice of those who have answered the call to defend our nation's freedoms. As fellow military, veterans and dependents, the staff is available to be your student's comrades and advocates. The Military and Veterans Affairs office and the Veterans Lounge are the go-to places for all needs for service members and their dependents.

STUDENT FAQS

Q What if I am not sure about my major?

A Don't worry: You are not the only one who didn't know what they wanted to do straight out of high school. If you are unsure about which degree you want to complete, contact the Office of Career Education for career exploration possibilities and more. You can talk to your academic advisor, and faculty in the program you are interested in studying. www.marshall.edu/careereducation

Q Can a student double major?

A To graduate with a double major, students will need to complete the college requirements of only one college, and both program's major requirements. Students will earn one degree certificate with both majors listed on it. Students will be able to complete both majors without the 150-hour requirement, and you do not have to pay any additional fees at the time of graduation.

To earn a dual degree, students will need to complete the major and college requirements in both programs. Students will earn two separate degree certificates. Students must complete at least 150 credit hours (30 additional credit hours for each degree earned) and will need to apply for and pay to graduate from both colleges/programs.

Q How do I get financial aid?

A All students must complete the FAFSA in order to receive financial aid. This form must be completed every academic year and is available every October 1 (the 2425 FAFSA will be available in December) for the next school year. The processing time for the FAFSA is four to six weeks, and aid is sometimes on a first-come, first-served basis, so early processing is highly recommended. To apply for the FAFSA, students must visit studentaid.gov. Students must also be in courses that count towards their program of study in order to receive aid. For more information on financial aid, call the Office of Student Financial Assistance at 304-696-3162. www.marshall.edu/sfa or www.marshall.edu/sfa/scholarships

Q Are scholarships available to students?

A Incoming Marshall University freshmen and transfer students are automatically considered for scholarship assistance based upon their admissions records. In addition, many individual colleges and programs have scholarships available to sophomores, juniors and seniors. Scholarships are awarded for the upcoming academic year. Visit www.marshall.edu/sfascholarships for scholarship opportunities.

Q Do I need to meet with an advisor before I register for classes?

A Most colleges require you to meet with an advisor before you register for classes. An advising hold will be placed on your registration status until you meet with your advisor. After the meeting, in which you will complete an advising contract indicating you will register for the courses that are required and/or recommended by your advisor, the advising hold will be removed. Remember, it is your job to work with your advisor to stay on track.

Q When do I register for next semester?

A Currently enrolled students are eligible to register for classes based on class-level priority. Registration for summer typically begins late March, registration for fall in early April, and registration for spring in early November. Graduate students and seniors register first, then juniors, then sophomores, and then freshmen. For the exact dates for advance registration, you can view the Academic Calendar. Your advisor will know the specific date for your class level. Registration information for each semester is posted on this site. www.marshall.edu/registrar

Q How do I register for classes?

A Once you have met with your academic advisor and your advising hold has been removed, you can register two ways. One way is to register online through your myMU account. You can always check with your advisor. You may also register for classes by completing an add/drop form and taking it to the Office of the Registrar to complete your registration. You may obtain an add/drop form from your advisor or from the Office of the Registrar.

Q What classes should I take next semester?

A The classes that you will take for next semester should follow an academic plan as noted in the Undergraduate Catalog or 4-Year Plans. Also, log in to DegreeWorks to see your plan. You should always consult with your academic advisor regarding your course choices. www.marshall.edu/advising

Q What is a registration hold and how do I get it removed?

A A registration hold prevents you from registering for courses online or without a signed add/drop slip from your advisor or dean's office. In most cases, the hold is an advising hold, meaning you must meet with your academic advisor before you can register for classes. Other registration holds include athletic holds for student athletes, social holds for students who have violated student conduct policies, or financial holds for students who still owe the university for the current semester tuition and fees or other charges such as housing, room and board, lock change fees, parking tickets, missing admissions requirements such as final transcripts or immunization records, insurance documentation for international students, or library fines. Such holds must be resolved with the department that placed the hold prior to course registration.

Q What is a pre-requisite?

A A pre-requisite is a requirement that must be met prior to enrolling in a course. A pre-requisite could be a test score (ACT, SAT, or placement exam) or another course. For example, if you want to enroll in ENG 201, you must have completed ENG 101 (with a grade of C or better). In some disciplines, such as math and science, it is essential to take classes in a specified order because the content of one class builds on the content of a prior class.

Q Can my advisor register me for a class that is closed?

A Your advisor is not permitted to register you for a course that is closed or full. Students seeking a seat in a closed course section should consult with the chair of the department or other designee who might be able to grant an “overload” for the course. Many courses are limited by the actual number of seats or equipment in the classroom. Your advisor can help you identify the department chair or designee.

Q Where can I find academic policies, academic requirements, and the 4-year plans for every degree?

A Academic policies and academic requirements for each of Marshall's colleges and academic programs are available in the Marshall University Undergraduate Catalog. Your official catalog year is the year in which you declared your current major, so select the appropriate catalog for your program information. Academic 4-Year Plans include sample course schedules for each program. These plans are available by selecting your college and program. You can also go to www.marshall.edu/advising

Q What are the policies for academic probation, academic suspension, and academic dismissal?

A Definitions of these policies are available in the “Academic Information” section of the Marshall University Undergraduate Catalog. www.marshall.edu/catalog

Q What is the D/F Repeat Rule?

A The D/F Repeat Rule allows students to repeat a course in which they first received a grade of D or F and replace the first grade with the grade received the second time. The original grade will still appear on the student's transcript but the first grade will be excluded from the cumulative GPA calculation. This rule applies only to courses taken within the student's first 90 hours of enrollment. The course can be repeated at any time prior to graduation for the policy to apply, as long as the course was originally taken in the first 90 hours. The rule is explained in detail in the “Academic Information” section of the Marshall University Undergraduate Catalog.

Q May I repeat a course if it is not covered under the D/F Repeat Rule?

A Yes. Students may take a course more than once (when not covered under the D/F Repeat Rule); however, the course will only count once toward the hours required for graduation. Both grades will be included in the cumulative GPA calculation. Repeating courses may affect financial aid eligibility.

Q How and when can I add/drop a course?

A If you want to adjust your schedule, you can add or drop courses without penalty (without a grade of “W” on your transcript) through the first week of the semester. Courses may not be added after the first week of school. Courses can be dropped after the first week, but will result in a grade of “W” on your transcript. See academic calendar for drop date for individual courses. No withdrawals are allowed during final exam week. It is in your best interest to consult with your academic advisor before completing any schedule adjustments or withdrawals. Dropping below full-time can affect financial aid, housing, health care coverage (on a parent's policy), and other student privileges such as athletic tickets.

Q How do I withdraw from a course?

A A student who wishes to withdraw from an individual course after the schedule adjustment period must submit an electronic Course Withdrawal Request Form linked on the Office of the Registrar website and the Undergraduate Advising website.

The Course Withdrawal Request Form initiated by the student will provide options for the student to acknowledge prior advising, request advising, or deny advising. Requests initiated by students on academic probation will be electronically forwarded to the advisor, associate dean/dean, or other designated college official (as authorized by the Office of the Registrar) for permission. Upon advising, if requested, and/or college permission, the withdrawal will be processed by the Office of the Registrar effective the date of the student's initial submitted request. Student, Office of the Registrar, instructor, advisor, associate dean/dean, and/or other designated college official will receive notification of course withdrawal.

Day or Night Classes: Students can drop individual courses after the Schedule Adjustment period and during the Withdrawal period which lasts until five instructional days prior to the last class day as defined in the academic calendar for each term. The exact last day for dropping individual courses is always published in the Academic Calendar for any given semester or term.

E-Course Withdrawal Period: The withdrawal policy for e-courses parallels that for regular courses. After that time, only a complete withdrawal from the university is allowed. The refund policy for e-courses also parallels that of regular courses.

Any course dropped after the schedule adjustment period is noted as a “W” on your transcript and will not impact your GPA. Students who do not follow the aforementioned procedure to withdraw from a class will receive a grade of F at the end of the semester.

Q Can I take courses at another institution and receive credit?

A Marshall University is considered your “home” school. If you choose to take classes at another school (for example, a school closer to your home during summer), you will be considered a visiting or transient student at that school. Typically, you apply for admission at that school as a transient (not a transfer). Applying as a transient student does not require that you submit a transcript from Marshall University; however, you do have to provide a statement of good standing. To do this, you will need to complete a Request for Advanced Standing Form on which you will indicate the courses you plan to take at the other school. The form will need to be signed by your dean's office. The form should be submitted first to the Office of Admissions to verify that the course will transfer back to Marshall as the desired course credit. The Office of Admissions will forward the form to your dean's office. The Office of the Registrar completes the certification that you are in good standing and the form is sent to the other school. The process ensures that you will receive the credit you expect to receive when the course is transferred back to Marshall University. You will need to request a transcript from the other school be sent to Marshall's Office of Admissions upon completion of your course(s). Email admissions@marshall.edu, or stop by the Admissions office in 102 Old Main.

Q How are classes affected by weather delays?

A Students should go to the class that would begin at the stated delay time or the class that would have convened within 30 minutes of the stated delay time. Visit website for more information /www.marshall.edu/board/files/mubogga-9-weather-closings-and-delays-2019-08.pdf

Q If I have taken courses at another institution, will all of the credit hours be accepted?

A Colleges and universities do not offer the exact same courses. If you take a course at another institution, you must have a transcript from that school sent to Marshall University. Upon receipt of that transcript, the Office of Admissions will review the courses to determine if they match a specific Marshall course. If a course is determined to match a specific Marshall course, you will receive that course credit on your transcript and it will count toward your academic program just as that same Marshall course would have counted. If the Admissions Office determines that the course is not a match, it will be listed on your transcript as "unclassified" credit in the discipline of the course (MTH, ENG, etc.). You can appeal this decision to the department of the discipline. For example, if you wish to appeal the classification of a math course, you should make arrangements to meet with the chair of the math department and provide a copy of your course syllabus from the other school. The department chair will make the final decision on the conversion credit for the course. Check with admissions before you take a class at another institution.

Q How many hours are considered full-time?

A For an undergraduate student, 12 credit hours is considered to be full-time. Fewer than 12 hours is considered part-time. Graduate students enrolled in 9 or more credit hours are considered full-time. Undergraduate students are encouraged to take more than 12 hours to graduate on time.

Q How many hours are needed for each level of class standing?

A Students with 0 – 29 earned credit hours are considered to be freshmen; students with 30 to 59 earned hours are sophomores; students with 60 – 89 earned hours are juniors; and students with 90 or more credit hours are seniors.

Q How do I calculate my GPA?

A Marshall University utilizes a 4.0 grading scale. To calculate your GPA, add the total number of credit-bearing, graded hours and divide this number into the total number of quality points. To determine your total number of quality points, multiply the credit hours for each course by the numerical value of the grade earned for each course (A=4, B=3, C=2, D=1, F=0). Add these numbers together and you will have your total number of quality points. For example, if you think you have a grade of B in PSY 201 that is a 3-hour course, that would be 9 quality points (B = 3, multiplied by 3 credit hours = 9). If you have taken courses at another institution, you will have a transfer GPA, a Marshall GPA, and a cumulative GPA (calculating your Marshall and transfer grades together). If you have only taken courses at Marshall, your Marshall GPA and your cumulative GPA will be the same. Two different GPA calculators are available here. www.marshall.edu/uc/gpa-calculator-3

Q Where do I get proof of enrollment?

A Information about proof of enrollment may be obtained by visiting the Office of the Registrar, Old Main 106A or accessed here. www.marshall.edu/registrar/forms

Q How do I get an official copy of my transcript?

A Transcripts are available by submitting a request to the Office of the Registrar. Transcript Request forms for electronic or paper delivery can be accessed here. www.marshall.edu/registrar/transcripts

Q How do I find out when my final exams are scheduled?

A Final exam schedules are posted on the Office of the Registrar website. www.marshall.edu/registrar

Q What if I am scheduled to take three exams in one day?

A Students with more than two exams in one day can request that a final exam be rescheduled. A "Final Examination Rescheduling Form" can be obtained from the major department or the college office. The full process is defined in the "Academic Information" section of the Marshall University Undergraduate Catalog. In brief, the student is required to find an instructor who is willing to reschedule an exam. If no instructor is willing, the signed form can be submitted to the Office of the Provost for a final determination on rescheduling. Please note that the Provost will not consider any form submitted less than one week before the first day of finals, or any form that is incomplete. An instructor is not required to reschedule a final exam at the student's request.

Q What can I do if I believe my professor has graded me incorrectly or unfairly?

A There is a process in place for appealing a course grade. The process is fully defined in the "Academic Information" section of the Marshall University Undergraduate Catalog. Information for undergraduate & graduate appeals can be found at www.marshall.edu/catalog. Contact the Office of Advocacy & Support about questions for appealing.

Q Where may I talk to a counselor about personal issues?

A Professional counselors are available on the first floor of Prichard Hall to students in need of assistance. There is no charge for their services. Counselors are available for appointments during regular business hours and walk-in hours are also available. View an up-to-date schedule online, or call 304-696-3111. For after-hours emergencies, an on-call counselor is available or by calling MUPD at 304-696-HELP (4357). www.marshall.edu/counseling

Where can I find help about getting involved on campus?

A Marshall University provides hundreds of opportunities to students who want to get involved. There are academic student organizations, Greek organizations, other social student organizations, special interest student organizations, intramural sports, opportunities for peer mentoring, community service opportunities, and more. For additional information on student involvement opportunities, visit the LEAD Center in the lower level of the Memorial Student Center. Or contact 304-696-6776. herdlink.marshall.edu

Q Is there parking?

A Marshall University has three parking options. Student surface permits include the five designated parking lots surrounding campus. The student garage parking permit allows students to park in the 3rd Avenue garage. The third option includes metered parking on campus and the hourly pay garage on 6th Avenue. Permit parking goes on sale in June.

Q What if I receive Financial Aid?

A Financial Aid recipients are responsible for ensuring that amounts due are paid in full by the due date. If fees exceed the amount of financial aid you are receiving and payment is not received by the due date, a $25.00 late payment fee will be assessed. After accepting financial aid, if you decide not to attend this semester, it is your responsibility to officially withdraw through the Office of the Registrar. If you do not withdraw, you will be responsible for all fees assessed.

Q How much will I have to pay?

A Fees for the future academic year are typically approved by the first of July. Student fees are based on the college in which their major is housed and their specific programs.

For a complete schedule of current tuition and related fees, please visit our website at www.marshall.edu/bursar. Resident hall and meal plan fees can be found at www.marshall.edu/housing.

Q Are payment plans available?

A YES! Marshall University is proud to offer the OASIS Plan as its exclusive payment plan for tuition and residence hall costs. Payment of one-third of the enrollment fees and, if applicable, room and board, after financial aid is applied will be required to participate. The remaining two-thirds plus a 1% administrative fee will be divided into two equal installments due September and October for Fall semesters and in January and February for the Spring semesters. OASIS is available on-line 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Enrollment is required for each semester. Sign up and make your payments through the Marshall Student Account Center on www.marshall.edu/bursar.

Q Will I receive a bill?

A Paper billing statements will be mailed on or around mid-July for the Fall semester, mid-December for the Spring semester and throughout the month of May for Summer semesters. Your account information is also available electronically through the Marshall Student Account Center link on www.marshall.edu/bursar. You can log on using your Student User ID and password.

Q When is my payment due?

A The due date on your billing statement indicates the last day you can pay without incurring a $25.00 late payment fee. Please pay particular attention to the due date on your account, as it is NOT the same for all students. HOWEVER, if payment is not received by your cancellation date your courses will be cancelled for non-payment and you will be required to re-register for your classes. Failure to receive a billing statement will not be accepted as a reason for missing the payment deadline.

Q How do I make my payment?

A The easiest, most convenient way is the Marshall Student Account Center. Visit our website at www.marshall.edu/bursar and simply log on with your Student User ID and password.

Through this website you may pay with either your personal checking account or any major credit card (Visa, MasterCard, Discover, or American Express). There is a 2.25% processing fee for all credit/debit card payments.

If you prefer, you may pay by calling 304-696-6620, or in person at the Cashier Windows located in Old Main, Room 101.

Q How do I receive a refund?

A Marshall e-Refund is a service that provides processing of student refunds from financial aid or other sources on their student account. In order to receive your refund, you will need to log on to MyMU and follow the e-Refund link to choose your refund preference.

You may choose to have funds directly deposited to your bank account or have a check mailed to you.

MARSHALL UNIVERSITY TERMINOLOGY

Academic Dishonesty: Dishonesty in academic endeavors, such as cheating, fabrication, falsification, complicity, bribes/favors/threats, and plagiarism.

Academic Standing: An indication of progress toward completion of program, based on GPA and hours completed. Good academic standing is when the GPA remains at 2.0 or above. If GPA drops below 2.0, student is on academic probation.

Accreditation: Occurs when a governing board certifies that an academic program or institution meets certain academic requirements.

Advisor: The person who provides academic guidance throughout a student's career at Marshall.

Academic Improvement Plan (AIP): Plan for students on probation to improve their academic performance. These must be signed and agreed to by student and advisor for student to continue with classes.

Alternative Suspension: The Alternative Suspension Program (ASP) offers students a unique opportunity to make progress in their chosen degree program and maintain a close connection to campus during the course of their academic suspension. Students who participate in alternative suspension will enroll full-time for a maximum of 13-14 credit hours, including UNI 104: Advanced Strategies for Academic Success. By remaining enrolled in degree-applicable credits, students in ASP have a much higher chance of succeeding in their major and graduating from college.

www.marshall.edu/advising/alt-suspension

Audit: When a student enrolls in a course for the purpose of refreshing or acquainting themselves with the material offered in the course. Audit students receive no academic credit or grade.

BA: Bachelor of Arts

BBA: Bachelor of Business Administration
52 • CAMPUS RESOURCES

BFA: Bachelor of Fine Arts

BS: Bachelor of Science

Bursar: Office at Marshall University responsible for student financial transactions, that is, tuition and fees payments, and parking fees and fines.

Capstone: Course taken during senior year that culminate in combining all areas of your undergraduate major studies.

Catalog: Online book containing specific requirements for all degrees, and outlines the rules, policies and procedures for the University.

Catalog Year: The academic year in which a student is admitted to a degree program. To earn the degree, students need to meet the requirements in that year's catalog.

Classification: Refers to student standing in terms of year, based on number of hours earned: Freshman, Sophomore, Junior, Senior or Graduate Student.

Complete/Total Withdrawal: When a student drops all classes for a term/semester.

Comprehensive: Typically referring to exams, when students are tested on all material covered in that course to date.

Co-requisite: A course required to be taken during the same semester/term as another course.

Credit Hour: A time-based reference for measuring academic attainment.

Course Reference Number (CRN): The number to identify a specific course section.

Cumulative GPA: The combined GPA of all semesters in college, based on total number of GPA hours and quality points, at both Marshall University and any other institutions a student may have attended.

Curriculum: The courses and their content offered by the University.

Pre-Finals Week: The week before final exams, where instructors cannot give exams worth more than 15% of the final course grade, or assign new projects worth 15% or more of the final course grade unless they were stated in the syllabus. This is to provide students with the opportunity to begin preparing for final exams.

Deficiency Points: Accumulated when GPA drops below 2.00. The number of quality points needed to bring GPA up to 2.00.

D/F Repeat: If a student earns a grade of D or F in any course taken no later than the semester in which the student attempts the 90th hour, the course can be repeated. The original grade will be disregarded and the new grade earned will be used in the GPA. The original grade is not deleted from the student's record.

Dismissal: Termination from a specific college, department, or even from the University.

Double-Major: Occurs when a student pursues two bachelor's degrees in different programs simultaneously.

E-Course: A course where content is delivered 100% by electronic means.

Excused Absence: Students contact their professor for 1-day medical absences and Student Affairs for extended medical absences, and are available for things such as University sponsored activities (athletic, arts, etc.), student illness or critical illness or death in student's immediate family, short-term military obligation, jury duty or religious holidays. Check the catalog for more details.

FAFSA: Free Application for Federal Student Aid – required to gain federal student funding for loans or grants, and must be filled out to receive Financial Aid from Marshall University. Visit www.studentaid.gov for more information.

FERPA: Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act – A federal law that protects the privacy of student educational records.

Full-Time: Full-time students must carry at least 12 credit hours per semester (or at least four hours during a summer term). Graduate students are considered full-time at 9 credit hours.

Graduate Assistant: A graduate student attending the University and also employed by a department in exchange for a stipend and in some cases a tuition waiver.

Hyflex Course: Hyflex is an online course where you give students the option to attend live sessions either virtually or face to face.

Incomplete: A grade given to students who do not complete course requirements due to student illness or some other valid reason. The "I" grade is not used in determining GPA. See catalog for more details. Students are required to have a C or better in the course and completed 75% of the work to qualify for an incomplete.

Intercollege Transfer: Occurs when a student transfers from one college within Marshall University to another.

Major: A student's main field of study while they are an undergraduate, requiring at least 24 course hours. It is a field of study within an approved degree program, having its own curriculum.

Major GPA: GPA in the courses which make up your major field of study.

Minor: A minor is a program of study outside the major department requiring at least 12 semester credit hours for completion. Please check catalog for specific requirements for minors.

MU GPA: Your total GPA while enrolled at Marshall University. For transfer students, this is different from your cumulative GPA, which includes grades from other institutions.

Multidisciplinary: Combining two or more disciplines (areas of study); exposing students to methodologies and perspectives of more than one discipline.

myMU: myMU is the university's portal to the web. This secure site provides Marshall University students, faculty and administrative staff with world-class Intranet and Internet services. This is where you can check e-mail, explore the Internet, get interact with your professor, class schedules and more.

Part-Time: Students carrying less than 12 credit hours during a semester (or less than 4 during a summer term). Graduate students are part-time when enrolled in 5 to 8 credits.

Prerequisite: A course that is required to be taken before another, more advanced course, may be taken.

Probation: All undergraduate students whose Overall or Marshall GPA drops below a 2.0 will be placed on Academic Probation. Academic Probation is a period of restricted enrollment for a student.

Registrar: Office at Marshall University which provides registration and academic record-keeping for students.

Registration: The period in which students may register or enroll in classes for an upcoming semester or term. Check the academic calendar for dates.

Schedule Adjustment: The period during the first week of class (check academic calendar for specific dates) where students may add or drop a class with no penalty.

Semester/Term: Semesters are the two major divisions of the academic year at Marshall University, occurring in Fall and Spring. Sessions and Terms are available during summer.

Suspension: Period in which student may not enroll in classes; occurs when too many deficiency points are earned; consult catalog for sliding scale.

Syllabus: A document that outlines or summarizes the content of a course. The syllabus typically contains contact information for the instructor, course objectives, assignments and due dates.

Transcript: Available from the Office of the Registrar, transcripts are written academic records for your studies. Official transcripts, often required for scholarships or health insurance purposes, must be requested in writing.

Transfer: Students who attended one college-level institution, and wish to transfer (for more than two semesters – see transient) to another college-level institution.

Transient: Students who regularly attend one college-level institution, but wish to enroll in another college-level institution for no more than two consecutive semesters. If a student attends for longer than two semesters, they become transfer students.

Tuition: The fees charged for academic instruction at Marshall University. Additionally, students may be required to pay fees that cover student activities, or room and board if living on campus.

Unexcused Absence: Any absence from a class or assignment not covered under the Excused Absence policy.

Virtual Course: meaning class sessions held live via the university's learning management system Blackboard and peripheral software, with instructors broadcasting lectures and leading classroom discussions at the specified class meeting day and time.

Work Study: A type of financial aid assistance in which students work in return for reimbursement of tuition and/or a cash stipend.
