

2023 Official Black History Poster

The Dr. Carter G. Woodson Lyceum at Marshall University

This poster won the annual Black History poster competition for Marshall students, which is sponsored by the Woodson Lyceum. It was designed by senior Gracie Stephens from Willow Wood, Ohio, who is studying toward a BFA with a printmaking emphasis.

The Lyceum is a forum for addressing major issues involving education, race and a free press. It honors Dr. Carter G. Woodson (1875-1950), a former West Virginia coal miner, 1896 graduate of Huntington, West Virginia's Douglass School and its principal (1900-1903), who became The Father of Black History.
